

Nixon Urges Treaty Okay

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon asked Congress today to approve by Sept. 1 the arms curbs he initiated in Moscow so broader disarmament talks can begin in October.

Speaking informally, Nixon appeared before dozens of congressmen at what he termed an unprecedented briefing session in the State Dining Room of the White House. He had invited 122 legislators to attend and to question the sometimes elusive Henry A. Kissinger, Nixon's national security advisor.

Most of the invited Senate and House members showed up.

In urging approval by Sept. 1 of a treaty with the Soviets limiting defensive strategic arms and a companion executive agreement to curb offensive missiles, Nixon added he was not suggesting it should take that long.

But in any case, he said, he was hopeful the way could be cleared for the beginning of talks in October on broadening limitations on offensive weapons.

The chief executive also urged his audience to fund a bigger defense program, saying the Soviets have made it clear "they are going forward with offensive programs."

Should the United States stand pat, or disarm unilaterally, the Soviets no longer would have any incentive to negotiate further arms curbs, he said.

The early-morning appearances by Nixon and Kissinger marked the latest administration maneuver in seeking congressional approval of "first step" arms accords.

It was believed to be the largest congressional briefing session ever held at the White House.

Those invited included all members of the five key committees directly involved in considering:

—The Moscow treaty to limit defensive strategic missiles, subject to approval by two-thirds of the Senate.

—A companion five-year executive agreement to curb offensive missiles for which Nixon seeks a majority vote in both houses.

Nixon could only remain with the legislators long enough to make opening remarks at the 9 a.m. meeting, the White House said, because of his participation in arrival ceremonies an hour later for visiting President Luis Echeverria Alvarez of Mexico.

However, Kissinger, the President's adviser for national security affairs and a principal architect of administration approaches to Moscow and Peking, promised to be available for a lengthy question-and-answer session.

The administration's eagerness to publicize its viewpoint on the arms agreements was emphasized by the fact that a number of newsmen were invited to sit in on the entire briefing.

Inasmuch as Kissinger has steadfastly declined to testify to congressional hearings, his willingness to appear before five committees at once—but away from Capitol Hill—marked still another turn in administration lobbying efforts.

Invited to hear Nixon and Kissinger were members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, the House Foreign Affairs Committee, the Senate and House Armed Services Committees and the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy.

By coincidence, none of the current frontrunners for the Democratic presidential nomination is a member of

Sedalia Policeman Tips His Scooter

A Sedalia police officer reportedly escaped injury at 5:31 a.m. Thursday when the Cushman scooter he was driving struck a parking meter and turned over at Third and Lamine.

Patrolman Stephen R. Phillips, 22, reported he was making a right turn onto a parking lot while on patrol when the three-wheel scooter began to tilt, and could not be controlled. It hit the meter and then fell on its side.

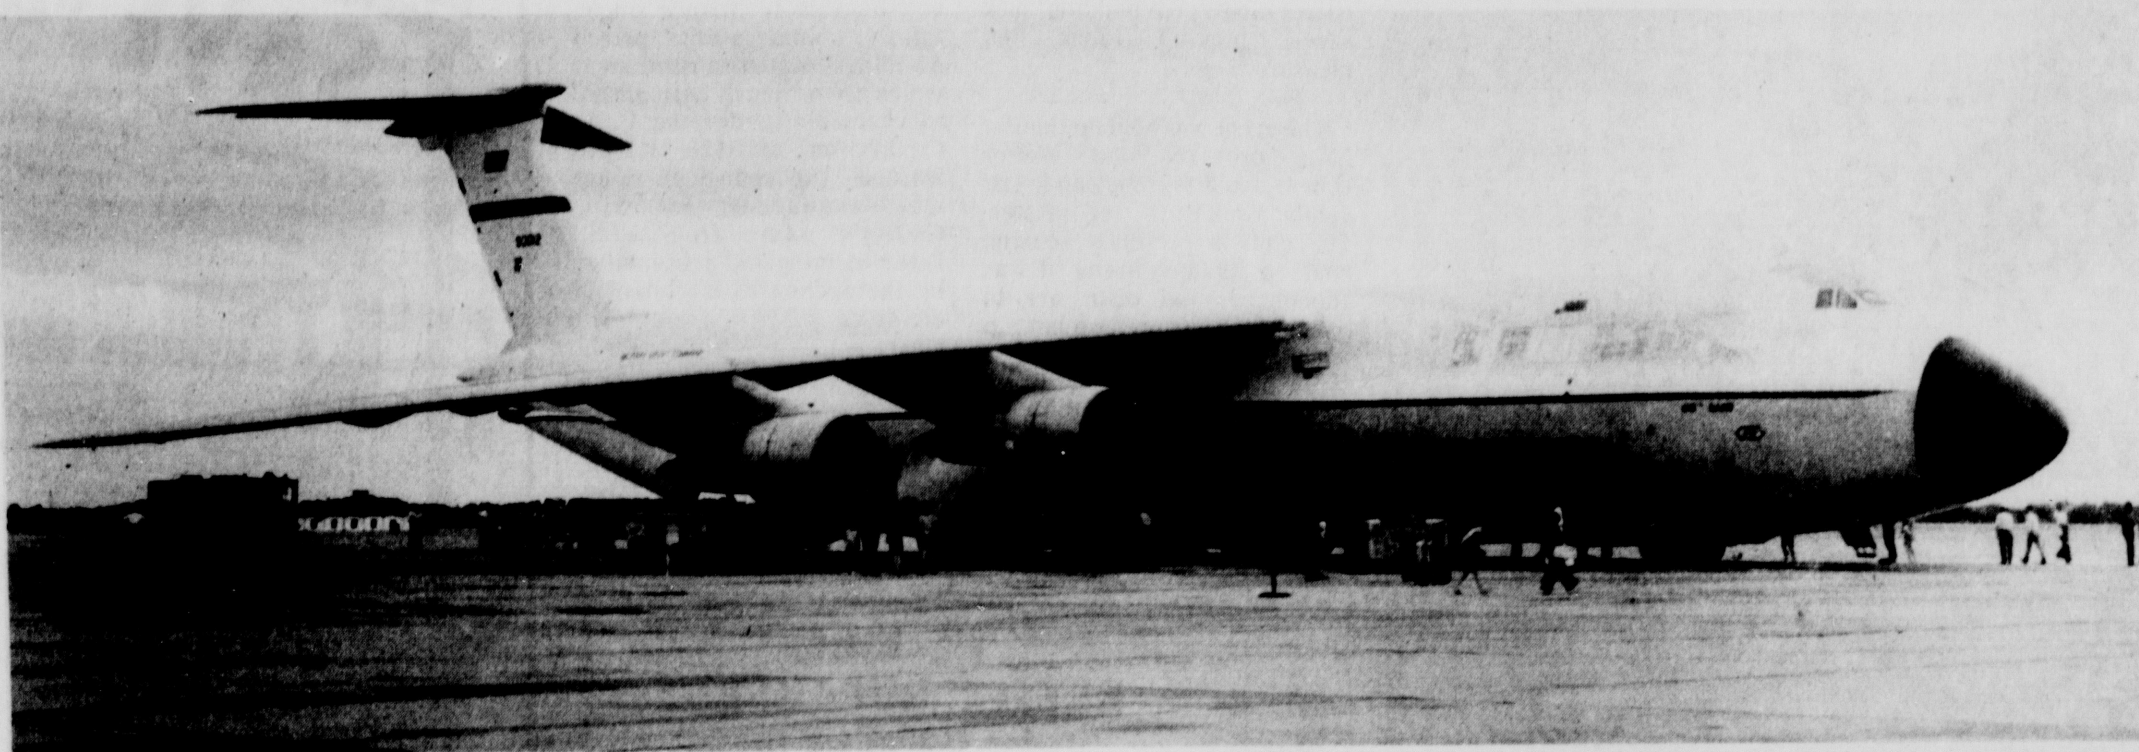

Police report a window was broken and a fender was damaged on the scooter during the accident. Police officers, it was reported, use Parking Meter Department scooters to patrol the downtown area when the vehicles are not used to check parking meters. Phillips apparently was not hurt.

World's Largest Aircraft

The Lockheed C-5A Galaxy, world's largest aircraft, flew into the Whiteman AFB Wednesday morning from Travis AFB, Calif., for a training exercise with Army personnel from Ft. Leonard Wood, who practiced loading the plane with outsize equipment and trucks used in disaster situations. Primarily used for long-range cargo airlift, the C-5 is over 245 feet long, 63 feet high and its wings span 222 feet. It flies at about 500 m.p.h., can haul up to 265,000 pounds and reach an altitude of 46,000 feet. The four-engine aircraft has two decks, with a 75-seat troop compartment on the first deck. Major James A. Kendrick, co-pilot, told The Democrat-Capital that since switching to the C-5 six weeks ago, he finds it "a much more complicated but a really dependable and safe aircraft to fly." An eight-wheel truck stands dwarfed at the rear of the giant plane. The bottom photo shows an Air Force couple walking into the plane. Only Whiteman AFB families and newsmen were allowed to tour the aircraft.

Ferocious Attack

There was a lot of action Thursday morning in Liberty Park. Nearly 80 children and adults watched Prinz, this German shepherd dog from the Whiteman AFB security police squad, "attack" A-1C Tommy Gabriel, in a display of canine obedience. Another dog, Hans, joined Prinz in entertaining children who are attending Camp Kadeka, sponsored by the Sedalia Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints, which runs through June 30.

In Rapid City

Reveals Pessimism On Aftermath Chore

RAPID CITY, S.D. (AP) — "We're never going to find all the bodies," says the mayor of Rapid City, which is digging out

KNOB NOSTER — Two families here received word last weekend that their relatives escaped the recent flood in Rapid City, S.D., that killed 204 persons, it was learned Thursday.

Mrs. Walter Coates, Knob Noster, was in Rapid City at the time of the flood visiting her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Coates. She notified her sister here, Mrs. Ernie Wharton, that she was safe. However, the Coates mobile home was washed away in the flood. The family left the home earlier when the danger of rising water became apparent, Mrs. Wharton said.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Jones, Route 2, learned that Mrs. Jones' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Peterson, were also safe. The Petersons followed the Coates' example by leaving their mobile home for a safer residence. The home was later found wedged against a bridge. Both mobile homes were listed as total losses.

from a killer flood that left more than 200 dead.

Mayor Donald Barnett said Wednesday, "We'll probably find about 50 more bodies in the city limits and some bodies will be recovered hundreds of miles from here in the Cheyenne and Missouri rivers."

Civil Defense officials set the death toll at 204 Wednesday.

Barnett said he estimates about $100,000 in contributions has been sent to Rapid City. The money, plus $500,000 in the city budget transferred from other projects which have been set aside, will be used to help families find housing.

"There are 2,400 unusable homes in Rapid City," Barnett said. "In addition, 300 mobile homes were totally destroyed and 300 others are temporarily unusable."

Preliminary estimates of the flood damage topped $100 million.

Several thousand of Rapid City's 43,000 residents were left homeless by the raging waters of Rapid Creek which flashed through this Black Hills resort city near midnight Friday.

Hundreds remained on the missing list. One crisis passed Wednesday when the Army Corps of Engineers announced it succeeded in reducing the stress on a partially collapsed dam at Sturgis, a community of 4,500 located 25 miles north of Rapid City.

For Podgorny Visit

U.S. Suspends Bombing Around Hanoi Area

SAIGON (AP) — The United States temporarily suspended bombing raids near Hanoi today as a goodwill gesture toward the Soviet Union, highly placed U.S. sources reported.

Soviet President Nikolai V. Podgorny is visiting the North Vietnamese capital and diplomats in Moscow believe he is trying to work out some peace arrangement.

U.S. warplanes were out over North Vietnam today but they were striking far south of Hanoi in the southern sector of North Vietnam.

Informants said it was likely that the suspension of bombing around Hanoi would last only while Podgorny was there.

In a stopover in Calcutta, Podgorny said Wednesday that "the Vietnam problem should be immediately solved. America should cease bombing."

U.S. jets struck in northern sections of North Vietnam on Wednesday, smashing 14 more bridges, leaving fuel depots in flames and wrecking scores of warehouses, supply trucks, railroad cars and radar vans, the U.S. Command announced.

More than 230 strikes were flown, the command said. It reported a Navy A7

Corsair was shot down by a surface-to-air missile during a night raid, and the pilot is missing.

U.S. B52 bombers began their second week of saturation raids around the North Vietnamese port of Dong Hoi in a campaign to wreck war materials believed destined for an attack on Hue.

More than 200 B52s dropped 500 tons of explosives on three sides of Dong Hoi. Hue is 90 miles to the southeast.

In South Vietnam, fighting was reported light around An Loc, 60 miles North of Saigon, but North Vietnamese gunners doubled their fire on the provincial capital. Field reports said about 600 shells hit the city during the 24-hour period ending at dusk Wednesday, double the daily average for the past several days.

One American adviser said there is no longer any serious fighting at An Loc.

"The South Vietnamese can move two or three kilometers out from An Loc without much resistance," he told Associated Press correspondent Richard Blystone at a command post on Highway 13 south of the town. "At An Loc, there's nothing left. The North Vietnamese are dead or they're gone."

Press-Bar Commission Formed

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The Missouri press, bench and bar incorporated the non-profit "Missouri Press-Bar Commission" Wednesday to promote the constitutional guarantees of a free press and a fair trial.

It succeeds the former Missouri Free Press-Fair Trial Committee whose president, Robert M. White II, publisher of the Mexico Ledger, is one of the incorporators representing the Missouri Press Association.

The others are Jack L. Oliver, Cape Girardeau attorney, representing the Missouri Bar, and Wade F. Baker, secretary of the Missouri Bar.

One of the purposes is "to provide leadership and guidance aimed at achieving a better informed citizenry that will be served by a still higher order of justice."

In addition to White, who represents the Missouri Press Association, and Oliver, representing the Missouri Bar, the 14-member board of the new commission includes:

G. Duncan Bauman, publisher, St. Louis Globe Democrat; James C. Millstone, assistant managing editor, St. Louis Post Dispatch; Cruise Palmer, executive editor, Kansas City Star and Times; Ernest H. Fremont, Kansas City, president of the Missouri Bar; Sam A. Burk, KIRX, Kirksville, and Jerry Sweaney, KTTS-TV, Springfield, Missouri Broadcasters Association; Weldon H. Steiner, Vandalia Leader, Missouri Press Association; Judge Fred L. Henley, Missouri Supreme Court, Missouri Judicial Conference; Judge Richard Jensen, 16th Judicial Circuit, Missouri Trial Judges Conference; Judge

Don E. Burrell, Greene County Probate Court, Missouri Probate and Magistrate Judges Association; Judge Roger D. Hines, Columbia Municipal Court, Missouri Municipal and Magistrate Judges Association; and John M. Goodwin, St. Louis, the Missouri Bar.

Three additional members at-large will be selected by a majority vote of the commission.

In addition, the chief justice of the Missouri Supreme Court will serve as an honorary non-voting member, the full time, salaried, chief executive officer of the Missouri Press Association, the Missouri Bar, the Missouri Broadcasters Association, the Missouri Judicial Conference and the director of the Freedom of Information Center at the University of Missouri-Columbia, will serve as associate, non-voting members.

Meetings Petition Donations Reported

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The Citizen's Lobby reported today a total of about $1,500 has been pledged to keep its campaign to get the so-called "Sunshine bill" on the November ballot. Some came from other public interest groups.

"We'll make it yet," said Raymond Appleton, director of the volunteer citizen's group.

Appleton said more than 40,000 of the 92,000 signatures needed for the initiative petition have already been collected. The rest must be filed in the secretary of state's office by July 6.

Appleton said it would take about $6,000 to wind up the campaign.

"Our average pledge is $10," Appleton said of a plea for funds sent out Wednesday in a last-ditch effort to keep the campaign going. "I am optimistic that the people will respond..."

Leaders of "Common Cause," a Washington based public interest group, added its assistance to the Citizen's Lobby today.

Miriam McCaleb of Columbia, Missouri

chairman of Common Cause, said she telephoned a pledge from the organization and went on record urging other citizens "concerned with making our state government more responsible to the people to do the same."

Mary Ann Yeats of Columbia, legislative chairman of the Missouri League of Woman Voters, telephoned a pledge and said she is calling other members for pledges.

State Rep. Jack J. Schramm, D-University City, contributed and added his endorsement of the effort by the citizens' group. Schramm is seeking the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor.

The Citizens' Lobby picked up the campaign for open governmental meetings when the legislators failed to agree on a bill when the session ended April 30. The bill, if approved by voters, would make all public meetings — boards, committees and council meetings at all levels of government — open to the public and the press.

The scholarship will provide between $100 and

$1,500 annually, based on the student's need. She was selected from among 14,400 finalists in the nationwide testing program, all scoring in the top half of one per cent in their graduating class.

4-H News

GREEN RIDGE — The Van Natta 4-H Club held its June meeting in the Green Ridge Park and home-made ice cream and cake were served before the meeting.

Bobby Shepp, president, presided at the meeting and roll call was answered with "What I plan to do this summer."

Johnnie Dove gave a community improvement report and Barbara Bell reported on the last 4-H council meeting. Fred Binder reported on the tractor maintenance meeting.

The club voted to have another tin can collection and also voted to help with a paper drive this month.

It was decided to have the swimming party July 7 at the Centennial Park Pool, meeting between 11:30 and 12 p.m. for a snack lunch.

Bobby Shepp will participate in the Citizenship Short Course in Washington, D.C., and Darlene Reusch and Sandra Shepp will attend the West Central Citizenship Short Course in Jefferson City this month.

Saddle Club Holds First 'Playday'

(Democrat-Capital Service)

OTTERVILLE — The Jesse James Riders Saddle Club held its first "playday" recently and saw 43 riders participating in 14 competitive events, including barrel races, pole bending, sack races, pick-up races and pleasure classes.

The event was held on the Pat Lalla property and Walter Dowdy acted as timekeeper and Junior Galloway, ring master. The club is presently seeking land for its open arena, it was announced, and plans are to either lease or purchase land in or near Otterville.

At the group's monthly meeting last week, plans were made for a work day Saturday, another "playday" June 18 and an open horse show July 9.

Financing for non-farm housing is now available through the Federal Land Bank Association, according to Glen D. Godsey, 2509 South Stewart, manager of the Sedalia office. The Sedalia branch, which serves rural residents in Benton, Cooper, Moniteau, Morgan and Pettis Counties, will be able to finance single-family, moderately priced dwellings located in rural areas which are primarily agricultural in character, under the Farm Credit Act of 1971, it was learned. The change in policy was announced following Godsey's return from a St. Louis meeting and action taken by the Sedalia FLBA board of directors.

World Seen As Safer Place By Europeans After Summitry

EDITOR'S NOTE: The summits in Moscow and Peking are over. What have they really changed? In this first of two articles, the post-summit outlook is summarized, with emphasis on Europe.

By LEWIS GULICK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The world is likely to be a safer place in the years following the 1972 summitry, and in the more immediate future it will see a step-up in already widespread U.S.-Soviet dealings.

An Associated Press survey since the Moscow and Peking talks finds this view widely held by U.S. officials and Europeans—a view tempered by caution against expecting speedy solutions to deep East-West differences.

Some forecast new frictions, short of major war, as the old globe of the cold war and two superpowers thaws into a more fluid but complicated multipower system.

In Asia as in Europe, officials see prospects improved after the summits for avoiding any new, large-scale conflict even though the Vietnam war goes on.

But they expect fundamental power shifts and major agreements in Asia to evolve only over the years. They rate the more immediate impact of Nixon's journeys as primarily psychological—creating an atmosphere of toning down old hostilities.

Some sources voiced disappointment at the lack of discernible progress on Vietnam, an issue President Nixon took up both with Chinese leaders in February and with the Soviets in May.

"Today the President speaks of going to Peking and Moscow for achieving peace," says W. Averell Harriman, a Democrat whose past posts include ambassador to Moscow and U.S. negotiator at the Paris peace talks, "and yet the war goes on in Vietnam with increased fury."

The fact that the Kremlin went ahead with the summit on the heels of Nixon's mining of North Vietnam's harbors has bolstered administration insistence that Moscow values improved U.S.-Soviet relationships over all-out support for Hanoi. But high U.S. officials say the key to a Vietnam peace still lies with Hanoi.

In contrast with the Peking summit, which featured an opening in U.S.-Chinese contacts after years of shut-off, the Moscow meetings went into a broad range of U.S.-Soviet dealings already under way, as well as taking up some new items.

Here are some specific things coming up in the wake of the agreements announced in Moscow:

SALT—The U.S. negotiating team is gearing up to return to the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks—SALT—with proposals for broadening arms control beyond the accords announced in Moscow. SALT negotiator Gerard Smith indicates the U.S. proposal will include a call for curbs on strategic bombers, and perhaps for further restrictions on missile forces.

Meanwhile, Nixon will push for congressional approval of the first-stage SALT accords—and for $83.4 billion in military appropriations for the coming year, up $6.3 billion from this year.

SALT placed ceilings on offensive and defensive missiles of the two superpowers, without restricting already planned programs for weapons improvements.

Smith and Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird agree that planned U.S. programs for such weaponry as the Trident missile submarine and the B1 long-range bomber must proceed pending a mutual arms control pact with the Soviets on such items.

Trade—Secretary of Commerce Peter G. Peterson will fly to Moscow next month for the first session of the new, permanent U.S.-Soviet Joint Commercial Commission. The aim is to work out a comprehensive trade agreement by late this year.

However, a web of issues must be resolved before U.S.-Soviet commerce can expand sizably. U.S.-Soviet negotiators have yet to agree on the size of a Moscow payment for Russia's IOU to the United States on World War II lend-lease debts.

The Soviets want most-favored-nation trade treatment from the United States. This will require congressional legislation which the Nixon administration does not want to grant until a lend-lease settlement. A similar situation applies to Soviet desire for U.S. Export-Import Bank credits.

Peterson predicts U.S.-Soviet commerce in time will surge far above its current flow of a couple of hundred million dollars a year. But difficulties over trade and credit terms, marketing problems and the like, in his opinion, will prevent the volume from reaching the billion-dollar mark by 1975.

Space—U.S. and Soviet technicians are shaping up a program for space cooperation which, in 1975, will feature a test rendezvous by American and Russian astronauts as they link up space ships. The U.S.-Soviet talks looking toward cooperation by the two space powers have been under way since 1970.

Environment—Specific projects under the new environmental agreement set forth at Moscow have yet to be worked out. A two-nation environmental committee will get on the job this summer or fall.

Perhaps there will be a joint effort for preservation of polar bears. There may be joint research on what cities and large water projects do to the climate.

Russell Train, chairman of the Council on Environmental Quality, calls the endeavor "a whole new ball game" in U.S.-Soviet cooperation. He envisages "not only sharing of information, but a very strong step beyond that into actual joint work on joint projects."

Science—Under the new accord on science cooperation signed in Moscow, the number of delegations exchanged under the current U.S.-Soviet exchange program—21—could double. The President's science adviser, Dr. Edward David, plans to head for Moscow soon to work out details.

On the major issue of European security, U.S. and West European officials both praise the Moscow summit as a plus in the movement already well under way to narrow the continent's East-West division.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers says he expects preliminary East-West talks to begin in Helsinki this fall, looking toward a Conference on European Security and Cooperation next spring.

Parallel talks are planned on mutual force reduction in Europe. An agreement could bring home at least some of the 300-

000 GI's in Europe. But presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger indicated to newsmen that, like SALT, European force cut negotiations are likely to be long and complicated.

In West Germany, Chancellor Willy Brandt was reported viewing the U.S.-Soviet summit as a total vindication of his policy of normalizing Bonn's relations with Communist East Europe.

In London, the Edward Heath government unreservedly welcomed the SALT accords. In Paris, government officials felt the missile pacts didn't go far enough—that the real need is destruction of nuclear arms and the means to deliver them.

While the French were obviously unhappy about what they regarded as too-slimy briefings on the Moscow summit, they and other West Europeans saw the U.S.-Soviet get-together as a prod for their Common Market.

As the superpowers swing into more arrangements between themselves, according to this view, it becomes more necessary for the European group to develop its own big power identity in order to pursue European interests effectively.

The theme that the danger of war is diminishing, found among officials both here and abroad, is based not only on the Moscow and Peking summitry but on a view of a changing world. It is also being accompanied by cautions that deep-seated differences will not disappear soon.

Nixon himself reported to Congress that the war threat has been reduced, but not eliminated. Australia's Prime Minister William McMahon saw the balance swung "away from confrontation towards conciliation and détente."

Britain's foreign secretary, Sir Alex. Douglas-Home, said the Soviets have not yet shown hard evidence of abandoning expansion at the expense of the West.

Undersecretary of State John N. Irwin II rates the Peking summit as the opening of a dialogue with China, while the Moscow summit "may be seen by historians as the symbolic end to the cold war."

Projecting to the end of this decade, Irwin sees this as the new world.

By 1980 China and the Soviet Union are quite likely to consider one another, rather than the United States, their principal antagonist if indeed they do not do so already.

The Communist giants may by then see the United States as far less of a threat than now, and at the same time perceive more advantages in cooperating with the capitalistic world in such fields as science, trade and arms control.

But they also are likely to have more influence abroad, so despite improved Washington-Moscow and Washington-Peking relations, "the number of areas in which we will compete with both Chinese and Soviet influence will have increased."

"This power and dominance of the two superpowers (the United States and the Soviet Union) should decline in relative importance.

Both powers will not only have to continue to get along with each other but also pay even more attention to getting along with the new emerging power centers in Western Europe, Japan and China."

American officials expect the more complex, shifting international pattern of the future will produce strange alliances on specific issues.

For example, even with a Western Europe united against Soviet military designs, they can foresee a dispute in which the Russians and Europeans join against a U.S. trade policy.

Or circumstances might arise, the officials speculate, in which Washington and Moscow together might oppose an economic action by the European Community or Japan.

Hit-and-Run

Driver Hits Boy;

Eighth in City

A 12-year-old Sedalia boy was injured, but not seriously, at 5:48 p. m. Wednesday after a motorist struck the boy's bicycle and then left the scene of the accident at Third and Limit.

According to police, the boy was identified as Gary Michael Enoch, 136 Rainbow Drive. He was taken to a physician after the accident and treated for a torn finger nail, cuts on his right arm and bruises.

Police reported that the gold-colored vehicle which struck Enoch was driven by a woman. This is the eighth hit-and-run accident here since June 1, according to police.

Violence Disrupts Concert

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — About 400 persons who tried to crash a rock concert by the Rolling Stones broke windows and clashed with police Wednesday night. It was the second night violence has accompanied a Stones' concert.

The confrontation started after nearly 10,000 concert ticketholders had been admitted to the Tucson Community Center. Those left outside without tickets began to "surge forward," trying to find ways to enter the hall, said Police Lt. Robert Grant.

Police officers reported they were hit with bricks, stones, cans and bottles. Tear gas was eventually used to disperse the crowd which had fanned out around the center complex.

Six persons were reported arrested. Community Center director Robert Thompson said damage was approximately $3,000.

In San Diego, Calif., Tuesday night rioting broke out after holders of counterfeit tickets to a Rolling Stones concert were turned away. Fifteen persons were injured and 60 were arrested.

The Rolling Stones' public relations manager, Bob Gibson, said the English group was not responsible for the problems which have followed their concerts.

"These things have nothing to do with the Rolling Stones," Gibson said. "The incidents happened outside and involved people who did not have tickets. The concerts are high energy performances. The kids really get excited. It's direct communication with the audience. They want to dance and sing, but this shouldn't bring about violence. They're having a good time. The trouble is from people outside the building."

Highlands Air Crash Claims 81

SAIGON (AP) — In the second Asian air disaster in two days, a Cathay Pacific jetliner crashed in the Vietnam's central highlands today, apparently killing all 81 aboard, including 17 Americans.

In West Bend, Wis., a company spokesman said Thomas J. Kenny, 50, president and chairman of the board of the B.C. Ziegler Co., and five members of his family were aboard.

The other members were his wife, Roberta, 46, and their children, Kathleen, 21; Daniel 20; Mary Jane, 16; and Colleen, 13, and a friend, Andrew Pick.

Cathay Pacific in Singapore, where the flight originated, also listed an Andrew Kenny, but the company spokesman said that was Pick.

U.S. helicopter crews who located and landed at the crash scene reported finding some bodies but no survivors around the wreckage of the four-engine Convair 880, military sources said.

The rescue crews were at the crash site until shortly before dark, when search operations were suspended. A company of South Vietnamese soldiers was flown to the scene to provide overnight security.

It was the second crash in Asia of a commercial airliner in two days. On Wednesday, a Japanese airliner crashed as it was preparing to land at New Delhi, and 84 of the 89 persons aboard were killed.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee plans to begin hearings on the arms package Monday, with Secretary of State William P. Rogers to begin presentation of the administration's case.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said Wednesday he intends to support the arms curbs all the way but opposes increased spending for new weapons systems.

Woman Hit in Face By Batted Baseball

Sam Harlan, 500 South Kentucky, told police Wednesday his wife was struck by a batted baseball while driving west with him in the 400 block of West Fourth shortly before 1 p. m.

He said she was hit in the face near her left eye. Several boys were seen playing ball in the area and the name of one youngster was found on the ball, he said.

Americans Missing In Action

SAIGON (AP) — The number of U.S. troops killed in action in Vietnam dropped to six last week, but 14 Americans were reported missing, according to the U.S. Command's weekly casualty summary issued today.

Most of the missing were believed to have been aboard a C46 transport plane that sources said disappeared in the central highlands nearly two weeks ago with 14 Americans, 11 Vietnamese and a crew of six Chinese aboard.

They were members of a clandestine operations group, and the U.S. Command has never acknowledged the loss.

The total of South Vietnamese casualties and the number of North Vietnamese and Viet Cong claimed killed also dropped last week, reflecting a general decline in the level of ground combat.

The U.S. Command reported six Americans killed in action, two missing in action, 12 missing not as a result of hostile action, three dead of nonhostile causes and 32 wounded.

South Vietnamese casualties last week were 632 killed, 2,302 wounded and 167 missing, the lowest totals in five weeks, the Saigon command said. It claimed 3,719 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong killed and said all but 20 were killed by government forces.

The allied commands now report these total casualties for the war:

American—45,782 killed in action, 303,118 wounded, 10,194 dead from nonhostile causes, 146 missing from nonhostile causes and 1,598 missing, captured or interned.

South Vietnamese—145,782 killed in action, 374,082 wounded.

North Vietnamese and Viet Cong—848,942 killed.

Echeverria Received At White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon received Mexican President Luis Echeverria today and declared that Mexican-American friendship is "an indispensable cornerstone of U.S. foreign policy."

The 50-year old Mexican chief of state arrived by helicopter at the White House and received full military honors at the start of a visit that includes extended talks with Nixon.

Echeverria, speaking through an interpreter, told Nixon of what he described as the grave responsibilities of leaders of both the industrialized and the developing countries.

Maximum protocol has been ordered by Nixon for the two-day state visit by Echeverria, starting with an elaborate White House welcoming ceremony that includes full military honors.

Echeverria will also address a joint session of Congress. He was at Camp David Wednesday night.

Trade, drug control and other bi-lateral problems are on the agenda for the two presidents, although there are strong indications that a hidden element—Nixon's re-election bid—also is playing a role in the summit scenario.

American sources concede that Nixon hopes that a successful visit by Echeverria will help to woo some Mexican-American votes for Nixon in the November election.

They said that Nixon wished to meet Echeverria later in the year at the Western White House in California as part of his bid for that state's sizeable Chicano vote but Echeverria rejected the idea on grounds he did not want to be an "unwitting instrument" in the Nixon re-election campaign.

Howard Is Awarded $3 Million Contract

Howard Construction Co. of Sedalia, has been awarded contracts totalling $3,382,339.43 by the Missouri State Highway Commission for work on Highway 50 in Pettis County.

The contracts call for 6.2 miles of grading, paving and resurfacing, plus construction of culverts, storm sewers and bridges from west of Dresden southeast to the west urban limits of Sedalia, and for 2.8 miles from the west urban limits of Sedalia eastward.

Construction will be carried out under the supervision of Highway Department District 4 resident engineer J. R. Holman, 2603 Southwest Blvd.

Bids on the projects and on five other projects were opened by the Highway Commission May 26 in Jefferson City.

Damages Awarded

A total of $1,500 was awarded in Pettis County Circuit Court Wednesday to William Bradley Dick for injuries he allegedly sustained in a motorcycle-automobile accident on April 19, 1969. The driver of the automobile, Madeline Gill, was the defendant in the case.

The plaintiff, through his father, William C. Dick, 1402 South Warren, sought $1,500 in the personal injury petition.

The accident took place at Fourth and Vermont.

Americans Perish In Air Crash

NEW DELHI (AP) — Sixteen Americans were believed to be among the 84 persons killed in the crash of a Japanese jetliner as it was preparing to land at New Delhi Wednesday night.

Six persons—three women and three small girls—survived, but one of the women died in a hospital. None of the survivors was believed to be an American.

One Indian casualty was reported. A farmer working in the field in which the plane crashed was hit by a burning piece of wreckage. He was in critical condition.

A passenger list issued by Japan Air Lines gave these names for the Americans: A. Curtis, E. Curtis, E. Weatherly, G. Marquardt, E. Namel, F. Weishaupl, A. Weishaupl, R. Weishaupl, an infant listed as B. Weishaupl, L. Heydorm, E. Myers, C. Myer, A. Hennessy, Mrs. Hennessy, Miss H. Hennessy and F. Hennessy, a 4-month old.

Home addresses were not available. Ten of the 78 passengers were Japanese, and there were 11 Japanese in the crew, the airline said.

Among those reported killed was the first secretary of the Canadian Trade Commission in Hong Kong, Wayne Hubble, 37. He was flying to New Delhi to marry a Canadian woman who works in the Indian capital.

The plane was on a flight from Tokyo to London and had stopped in Hong Kong and Bangkok. It had been cleared for landing by the New Delhi control tower and was descending into its landing pattern when it plunged to the ground in flames near the village of Jaitpur, 15 miles from the airport, said Yasuteru Matsui, regional manager for JAL.

"The pilot said 'Roger,' and then lost contact," Matsui said. "Until then, nothing appeared wrong."

It was 8:20 p. m. and still daylight, but a heat haze hung over New Delhi and dust storms made the visibility poor. The temperature has been around 110 most days.

The president of the airline, Shizuo Asada, said in Tokyo that there had been no bomb threat to the plane. He added that JAL has taken maximum safety measures since the airport massacre in Tel Aviv by three Japanese terrorists on May 30.

Office Will Close

The Missouri Vehicle Registration office at the Pettis County Courthouse will be closed Saturday, it was reported.

Office staff members will attend a meeting in Jefferson City that day.

Area Hospitals

Harold Weeks, Sweet Springs, was admitted to Sweet Springs Community Hospital.

Mrs. Don Rothrock, Sweet Springs, was dismissed from Sweet Springs Community Hospital.

Wilson Laughlyn, Sweet Springs, is a patient at Boone County Hospital, Columbia.

Request For Test Being Considered

Three persons were bound over to Pettis County Circuit Court Thursday after preliminary hearings in Magistrate Court. Joseph A. Reis, 23, Route 3, was bound over on charges of receiving stolen property valued over $50. His bond remains at $2,000.

Reis also is charged in Johnson County with burglary, Pettis County Sheriff Emmett Fairfax said.

Reis is charged with having in his possession at the time of his arrest about $270 worth of trading stamps, which were allegedly taken from a Derby Service station in Warrensburg May 20. He is also charged on another count of receiving stolen property involving another incident. He was bound over to Circuit Court in May on the first charge.

Gwendolyn Marie Staten, 20, 107 East Cooper, was bound over on a charge of forgery. Miss Staten is accused of passing a forged check on the Sedalia Bank and Trust Co. in May.

Maurice G. Poindexter, 17, 509 North Lamune, also was charged with forgery but Magistrate Judge Frank Armstrong dismissed the charge.

Poindexter, however, was bound over to Circuit Court on a charge of first degree robbery by use of a deadly and dangerous weapon. He is accused of being involved in an armed robbery in mid-April involving Raymond L. Maupin, 401 West Saline, who allegedly took about $30 cash from Ed Jackson, Windsor, an attendant at the Vickers Service Station, 204 North Missouri.

Bond remains at $3,000 for Miss Staten and $4,000 for Poindexter.

Hearings Held For 3 Persons

Raymond Maupin, 401 West Saline, appeared in Pettis County Circuit Court Wednesday and presented testimony in support of a request made by his attorney for a mental examination before his case is heard in Circuit Court. Maupins is charged with armed robbery and breaking jail and escaping before conviction.

Circuit Judge Frank E. Meyer took the request under advisement.

Maupin was arrested April 12 by Sedalia police in connection with a robbery at a service station that same day.

He escaped the custody of Deputy Sheriff Donald Stratton May 4 outside the county courthouse and eventually was shot in the foot after a four-block chase by Stratton. He was being taken to the jail after a preliminary hearing in Magistrate Court that day.

Hearing Date Set In Marijuana Case

John Woolery, 22, 1824 South Barrett, was formally charged in Pettis County Magistrate Court Thursday morning with possession of more than 35 grams of marijuana.

Magistrate Judge Frank Armstrong set June 29 as the preliminary hearing date. Bond was set at $2,500.

Pettis County Prosecuting Attorney Adam Fischer said the man had the marijuana in his possession when he was arrested by sheriff's officers at 3:30 p. m. Wednesday at 1205 South Stewart.

The marijuana reportedly was in two paper sacks. Pettis County Sheriff Emmett Fairfax also said marijuana plants were growing in the back yard of the 1205 South Stewart residence.

Although sheriff's officers reported Wednesday they were investigating the possibility that other individuals were involved, no further arrests were made up to 1 p. m. Thursday.

Still Believe in a Recession

By LOUIS HARRIS

Despite encouraging signs from the economy lately, a plurality of the American people still believe, by 48-37 per cent, that "the country is in a recession." And a majority express the view that the pace of inflation is faster than a year ago this time.

One key to the continuing lack of public confidence is criticism of the actions of the federal Price Commission and the Pay Board in granting price and wage increases.

A substantial 59 per cent feel that the Price Commission is giving "too many price increases," compared with only 3 per cent who feel the Commission is granting "too few." Back in March, the critics of the Price Commission were a smaller majority by five percentage points.

Nearly half the public, 47 per cent, and 44 per cent of labor, believe that there have been "too many pay increases" allowed by the Pay Board. This is four percentage points higher than in March.

Fifty-five per cent of the American people feel that the prices of most things they pay for are still rising faster than a year ago, despite the economic indicators which have shown a leveling out of the rate of inflation. A cross section of 1,385 families were asked: "Do you feel the prices of most things you buy are rising more rapidly than a year ago, about as rapidly as they were then, less rapidly than a year ago, or are they going down?"

Trend of Consumer Prices

	Up Faster %	Up as Fast %	Up Less Fast %	Going Down %	Not Sure %
May, 1972	55	31	11	1	2
March	59	28	11	—	2
January	47	33	16	1	3
November, 1971	45	34	16	1	4
October	60	26	11	—	3
September	64	28	6	—	2
August	69	25	4	—	2
June	70	24	5	—	1
May	72	20	6	—	2
March	73	22	4	—	1
January	65	28	5	—	2

Although not nearly as many persons feel the press of inflation today as did a year ago, nonetheless the fact that a majority still believe that prices are rising more rapidly than in 1971 indicates a deep public concern over the cost of living. Past experience has indicated that it usually takes between four to six months for the public's thinking on prices to catch up with such barometers as the Consumer Price Index.

To measure the psychological impact of unemployment, the survey has periodically asked cross sections of the nation's households: "Compared to a year ago, do you feel the number of people unemployed around here has increased, decreased, or stayed about the same?"

Perceived Unemployment

	Going Up %	Going Down %	Same %	Not Sure %
May, 1972	41	10	40	9
March	46	8	39	7
January	43	9	38	10
November, 1971	40	7	45	8
October	54	6	34	6
September	47	7	39	7
August	58	6	31	5
June	70	5	22	3
May	65	4	25	6
March	62	4	29	5
January	62	5	27	6

Although the number who believe unemployment is still increasing has declined from 70 per cent a year ago to 41 per cent today, four out of 10 is a substantial number. Federal statistics indicate little change in the percentage of unemployment in the past year.

Despite the continuing unwillingness of the public to acknowledge that the economy is improving substantially, nonetheless a plurality still maintain confidence in the basic approach President Nixon has taken.

The big turning point in confidence in Nixon economic policies, of course, came after the President imposed a price-wage freeze Aug. 15, 1971. But since last September, although a consistent plurality has said his economic program contained "more good than harm," the number who have said "more harm than good" has risen from a low of 23 per cent to 34 per cent at the latest count. This negative trend has coincided with a gradual decline in confidence of the Phase Two price and wage apparatus.

The political test, of course, will be the judgment of voters next November on whether the country has shaken the recession. In May, the cross section was asked: "Do you feel the country is in a recession today or not?"

Is Country in a Recession?

	Is %	Is Not %	Not Sure %
May, 1972	48	37	15
March	48	33	19
January	49	33	18
November, 1971	56	27	17
September	55	26	19
August	62	24	14
June	62	25	13
May	63	23	14
March	65	21	14
January	56	33	11
November, 1970	62	24	14
July	58	26	16

Although now below the 50 per cent mark, economic recovery is likely to continue as a key issue in the 1972 campaign, so long as nearly half the public feels the country is in a recession.

Disowns
Her Part
In Chase

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — An 86-year-old Chickasha woman is without drivers license today following her conviction for reckless driving, but she maintains she wasn't the woman who led officers on a wild auto chase along an interstate highway.

Special Court Judge Charles Halley told Mrs. Lillie C. Leeds he never wanted to see her "behind the wheel again," and revoked her license and fined her $500. The fine was suspended.

"You don't know what you're doing," exclaimed the defendant.

Highway Patrolmen L. G. Enterline and Bob Thomas testified the woman was "weaving all over" Interstate 35 Monday night. They said they stopped her and began writing a ticket when she hopped into the car and sped off, running over a curbing and flower garden of a service station.

The officers said they pursued her and finally stopped her on a city street. She was taken to jail after police could not locate any relatives.

The troopers said the woman had traffic backed up for more than 1½ miles on the interstate.

Another witness, former Special Court Judge Jack Thorne, testified the woman nearly ran him off the road.

Mrs. Leeds, however, maintained her innocence to the very end. She said she had never seen arresting officer Enterline before, but added "he certainly is a nice-looking gentleman." She then winked at the trooper.

A group of Pettis County young Democrats organized recently for the purpose of assisting E. J. "Lucky" Cantrell in his bid to become Missouri state treasurer.

An organizational meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the Community Room at the Missouri State Bank. Special emphasis will be put on greater participation by area young people in the Cantrell campaign.

Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Need Operation
To Help Hernia

Dear Dr. Lamb — Would you please help us with our problem. My husband is 46, weighs 140 pounds and is five feet six. He has a hernia in the lower abdomen. It is not painful and seems to be of recent origin. Does surgery seem the best correction and how permanent and limiting is the future? I read somewhere about injections. Are they safe? Is surgery under local anesthesia possible?

Dear Reader — If your husband does have the usual type of hernia in the lower abdomen, it is best corrected by surgery. Such a hernia really is a hole in the muscular wall of the abdomen where the cord of the testicle passes to the scrotum. This allows a loop of the intestine to slip out through the hole to form the hernia or swelling that you have noted.

The danger of not treating such a defect is that the loop of intestine may be caught outside of the abdominal cavity. Intestine may be caught outside of the abdominal cavity underneath the skin and gangrene of the bowel loop and other problems. It is true that lots of people go a long time before having surgical correction but the hernia does not improve with time and the person's health does not improve with age. The usual type of hernia operation in the lower abdomen is a simple procedure and well tolerated by almost anyone except those with very severe health problems.

I would think any procedure

such as injections would be most unsafe and unsuccessful. You should talk to the doctor who does the surgery about what anesthesia is preferable. Some hernias in the lower abdomen can be repaired under spinal anesthesia. Some are done under local anesthesia. One surgeon in Los Angeles has his patients walk out of the operating room. This varies with the patient's condition, the type of hernia and what the surgeon and his team are used to doing for the best results. This really is not major surgery, but it is very important surgery.

Did you know the Black Death was back? One of the greatest scourges in the history of mankind, the Bubonic plague, has made a reappearance. Its sudden return appears to be related to the back-to-nature movement and particularly in the so-called hippie communes. Dr. Darwin L. Palmer in Albuquerque, N.M., has been studying "Black Death" in the Southwest. In a 1970 outbreak near Albuquerque there were 13 cases, the largest outbreak of the plague since 1924.

Day Camp Has Many Activities

Hayrides, archery, conservation and crafts are just some of the many activities that area girl scouts have participated in Monday through Thursday at the annual Girl Scout Day Camp at Camp Sacajawea.

Over 200 girls have registered this year from Sedalia, LaMonte, Green Ridge and Lincoln. The Day Camp will hold its second session next week Monday through Thursday.

There are 11 units participating, which include Brownies, Brownie Fly Ups, Juniors, Cadettes and Chiefettes. The Brownie Fly Ups camped out Wednesday night and next week the Juniors will camp out for two nights, the Cadettes and Chiefettes for three nights.

Shown in the picture at left is Gary Heidrick, conservationist at the Missouri State Fair, who is showing Becky Whitfield and Debbie Bohon, right, a baby deer. Heidrick along with two other conservationists from the fair brought two baby raccoons, a coyote, a fox and snakes for the scouts to see.

Gary is from Jefferson City; Becky is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Whitfield, LaMonte; and Debbie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Bohon, 510 West Sixth.

Miss Clydia Smith, center, archery instructor at the day camp, shows Cheryl Dennis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Dennis, 1600 East 13th, how to use a bow and arrow. Teresa Harding, right, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Harding, LaMonte.

Mrs. Wanda Whitaker, 8 Clarinda Drive, is taking the Brownie Fly Ups of Unit 6 on a hayride.

Miss Hopkins, who recently completed her freshman year, is a graduate of Smith-Cotton High School.

Happy Caravan

Sedalia Students Travel To Europe

Four Smith-Cotton High School students departed Tuesday afternoon from the Kansas City International Airport to participate in the People-to-People High School Student Ambassador Program to Europe this summer.

Student ambassadors are Jeanne Wimer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Wimer, Route 3; Pam Monsees, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. C. W. Monsees, South Highway 65; Alan Ray Goodheart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Goodheart, 1221 West Broadway; and Leesa White, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Ira M. White, 1101 South Beacon.

The 30 participants from all over the United States will assemble in Washington, D.C. at the beginning of the project for briefings on what to expect in the countries they will be visiting.

The Netherlands, Germany, Switzerland, Italy, Yugoslavia, Hungary, Austria, France and England are the countries listed on the agenda.

The purpose of the program is to help create goodwill and international understanding both here and abroad and to help gather information so the program can be explained when the students return.

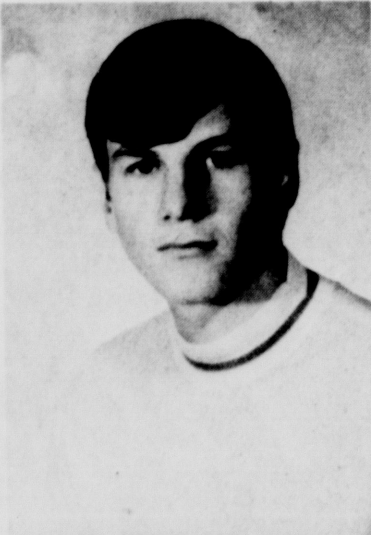

Delegates Named To Attend Boys State

Jim Grott

Duane McNew

Dan Embree

Paul Anderson

Delegates have been selected from Sedalia and the surrounding area to attend the annual Missouri Boys State Week June 17-24 at Central Missouri State University, Warrensburg.

Local representatives to be sent to Boys State this year are: Jim Grott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth J. Grott, 1005 Leone Ave.; David Rayl, son of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Rayl, 2342 West Second; Paul Beykirch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Beykirch, 2900 Skyline Drive; Duane McNew, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otis D. McNew, 1820 East Ninth; and Dan Embree, son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer W. Embree, 1433 South Carr.

These five delegates are sponsored by Pettis County American Legion Pettis County Post 16.

Boys State gives youths an opportunity to learn how the American system of government works from actual experience. Three separate "cities" will be set up with participants running for office while studying various phases of government. The program was originally established in Missouri in 1938 and was gradually adopted by other states across the nation. Today, almost all of the 50 states have a similar program.

Grott will be a senior this fall at Sacred Heart High School. He has lived in Sedalia for seven years. Rayl will also move into his senior year at Smith-Cotton High School this year. He was state winner of the Optimist Boys' Oratorical Contest in 1971. He is currently president of the Sacred Heart Youth commission.

Beykirch is a member of the Sacred Heart Parish Council, a Sedalia Country Club golf champion, and is listed as an Outstanding Teenager of America for 1971-72.

McNew will be a senior at Smith-Cotton this year. He has been an honor student and was selected last year to attend the IOOF United Nations Pilgrimage for youth.

Embree was recently elected student council president for Smith-Cotton High School's coming year. He has been active in extra-curricular school activities and in various community projects.

All five boys are "a perfect

example of what Sedalia's youth can be," a spokesman from the local American Legion Post said. "It's indeed gratifying to know that there are so many good teenagers still around to represent our community," he said. "when so many reports about today's youth would have one believe that the whole generation of youth is corrupt."

Attending Boys State from Smithton High School will be Paul Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Anderson, Smithton. He is a member of the Flat Creek Baptist Church and the South Abell 4-H Club.

Representing Ottaville High School will be Ronnie Dowdy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dowdy, Ottaville. He is sponsored by the George Harlan Post 84 of the American Legion.

Approximately 961 boys will be attending Boys State this year, it was reported.

Ann Landers

Trying Not To Be Possessive

Dear Ann Landers: I hate possessive mothers and I swore I would never be one. It's easy to say until it hits home. Please give me some encouraging words so I can let my only daughter move away with a light heart.

Mary will be married soon and they are moving to Vermont. This is like the end of the earth to us. We are of modest means and will not be able to visit them very often. Tell me to be happy for them and to stop thinking about US. I took care of my aged mother and mother-in-law until they died. How I envy them their later years! They were near their children and grandchildren, a joy that will be denied me. I am heartsick over this and I'm trying not to show it. Now I know why so many mothers cry at weddings.

My husband said last night that maybe we weren't very good parents or Mary wouldn't move so far away. I admit, Ann, the same thought has crossed my mind. Are we failures as parents? What do you think? We'll be looking for your answer. — B. Wn.

Dear B. Wn.: On the contrary. Successful parents produce children who CAN move away without falling to pieces. But why do you view this as a permanent separation? Life is unpredictable. We are living in a highly mobile society. Your daughter and her husband might be back next year. Or perhaps you and your husband will move to Vermont after retirement. (It's beautiful there!) Cheer up and be glad your little wren can leave the nest. Healthy birds fly away.

Dear Ann Landers: That Harvard professor of medicine is off his rocker. He signed himself Soporific In Cambridge.

Who is HE to tell me that I don't love my husband just because I don't care to be up all night listening to him snore?

His theory that a woman who cares about her man would consider snoring as music to her ears because "he is getting his rest" is too crazy for words. What about HER rest? The notion that snoring can be a reassuring sound is absurd. And then that other nut from Canton who agreed with the doctor and said, "When he snores I know he is THERE," sounds like the relieved compromise of a wife whose husband is running around.

Leonard and I have been married for 34 years. I love him very much. He is a great talker and well known teller of jokes — most of them I have heard at least 25 times. I listen to him plenty during my waking hours. I don't want to listen to him all night, too. I resent that professor's arrogant statement. And since you did not print his name I hope you will print this letter so he can see it. Who was it that said, "You can always tell a Harvard man, but you can't tell him much?" — Stanford Graduate

Dear Graduate: Probably a Yale man. Thanks for writing.

Dear Ann Landers: Here's a perplexing dilemma with a brand new wrinkle. One of my husband's utterly-ex lady friends is harrasing him for money she feels is due to her. It seems she laid out some cash for plane tickets to accompany him on several rather expensive trips. She wants to be reimbursed.

My question: Shouldn't a "free" woman be expected to carry her own weight financially? What's your opinion? — Baby It's Cold Outside

Dear Cold Baby: Never mind MY opinion, what was their agreement? If he promised to reimburse her, he should do so. If they had no such understanding, the doll has no right to dun him at this late date.

Gets Missouri Delegates

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, left, with Gov. Warren E. Hearnes, made his point at a St. Louis news conference Wednesday at the beginning of a 10-state campaign swing seeking delegates he hopes will deadlock the Democratic National Convention. (UPI)

In Missouri

Muskie Woos Delegates

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Sen. Edmund S. Muskie began a new search for delegates who would support him at the Democratic national convention by winning and dining Missouri's large block of uncommitted delegates Wednesday.

Afterward, he said that as many as 50 of the state's 61 uncommitted delegates would probably support him at the convention.

Muskie chose Missouri as the first of 10 states he will visit within the next week to test his strength for getting the presidential nod. Gov. Warren E. Hearnes, an early backer of the Maine senator, had earlier urged that Missouri's delegation go uncommitted to the convention, although some delegates were already pledged to various candidates. Hearnes quickly assembled the uncommitted delegates to attend the St. Louis dinner, which was closed to the press.

When Muskie emerged with Hearnes and Sen. Harold Hughes of Iowa, he was asked if he had changed the minds of any uncommitted delegates on how they would vote.

Muskie passed the question to assist Muskie in his fight for delegates right up until convention time.

"A minimum of 40 and as many as 50," Hughes said. Only a few of the 61 uncommitted delegates failed to attend the dinner.

Hearnes became irritated when asked if the dinner was an attempt to influence the delegates. He said he paid for the dinners himself and said of the delegates, "they're not my pawns."

At a press conference earlier Muskie said his renewed campaigning was "not a stop McGovern effort." He said he now considers himself "a long shot possibility" to win the Democratic nomination but feels it is important to offer an alternative to those who could not support Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D.

Muskie said he will remain a candidate right up until the convention and "it's important to keep repeating it."

After the dinner Muskie left immediately for Salt Lake City, Utah, where he had a breakfast scheduled this morning. His itinerary was to include a one-postponed speech in Los Angeles and more delegate hunting in the states of Oklahoma, Idaho, Montana, Arizona, Kentucky, Louisiana and Indiana.

A GIFT OF ART

SHERMAN, Tex. (AP) — A $100,000 gift from Mrs. Marion Bassham of Colorado City, Tex., has established an art endowment fund at Austin College.

Dr. John D. Moseley, president of the college, said income from the fund will be used for operating expenses in the college art department.

The fund will be used to finance costs of visiting lecturers, travel expenses, purchase of pieces of art for a permanent collection, rental of art films and temporary exhibits.

Garlich Explains Programs

Roger A. Garlich, director of the Children's Therapy Center and the Pettis County Sheltered Workshop, addressed a Wednesday noon meeting of the Sedalia Lion Club at Bothwell Hotel, relating the work done by these two community organizations.

He told the group the Therapy Center has started 16 years ago and has grown to test 771 children this year, enrolling 269 in treatment programs. As recently as 1959 only 57 children were aided in this fashion. He added that the present figures represent maximum enrollment with the present facilities.

New facilities, increasing floor space from 2,500 to 9,000 square feet, will open next fall. Money from the Virginia Flowers Trust Fund and matching funds from the federal government will be used, he said.

The local Sheltered Workshop program serves nearly 50 handicapped persons in Sedalia, with another 25 being hired through a Marshall workshop. Garlich said ten years ago there were only two special education classes for the handicapped, but with the help of the school system here, there will be 10 to 12 special education classes this year.

The speaker was introduced by program chairman Abe Silverman.

Bob Cain announced the approach of the Lions Annual Residential Broom Sale, to be held June 20 and 21. He said all brooms are manufactured by the blind. The broom van will be parked in front of the Penney's Store in downtown Sedalia on those dates, and will be manned by Lion volunteers.

Guests at the meeting included Elvin Dunn, with C. W. Mathieson, and Gary Stouffer, distributive education coordinator at Smith-Cotton High School, with Earl Finley, club president John Kenny, presided.

Named Director

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Isadore H. Gross Jr., 44, Kansas City, has been named regional director of the Labor Department's Bureau of Apprenticeship and Training.

Gross, the second black regional director, will be responsible for training more than 12,000 apprentices in Omaha, Des Moines, Davenport, Iowa, Wichita, Topeka, St. Louis and Kansas City.

4-H News

Six Pettis County 4-H members are in Washington, D.C., this week attending a 4-H Citizenship Short Course. They are participating in programs on citizenship education, taking tours to the various points of interest and meeting 4-Hers from other states and countries.

The delegates from Pettis County are: Mary McClure, Sedalia; Robert Shepp, Green Ridge; Daryl Fowler, Hughesville; Sonya Wiskur, Hughesville; Jan Reid and Cheri Imhauser, Houstonia. They will return Sunday.

Missouri 4-H Week was attended by nine young persons from Pettis County June 6-9. The theme of the program, held at the University of Missouri-Columbia, was "4-H Bridges the Gap."

Delegates were Lynn Runges, Nancy Darby, Rita Westermier, Mary Jo Westermier, Carla Jackson, Carolyn Dotson, Stephanie Schroeder, Richard Hunter, Danny Lindsey, and Bob Heitmeier, area youth specialist.

LAMONTE — Gene Smith, LaMonte civil service director, received a check recently for $20 to be applied toward LaMonte's nuclear warning system from the LaMonte 4-H secretary, Jeff Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Merle R. Nelson, and Kathryn and Karen Minor, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Minor, all of LaMonte.

Dedicate Corridor To General Bradley

WASHINGTON (AP) — A corridor of the Pentagon building was dedicated Wednesday to General of the Army Omar N. Bradley, a former Missourian.

Bradley, 79, enthusiastically reviewed the honor guard at the ceremonies and received a 19-gun salute.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird presented Bradley, the nation's only living five-star general as "a soldier's soldier" who "brought to the task quiet determination, extraordinary common sense, and intense loyalty to his country and his men."

The corridor, outside the Joint Chiefs of Staff area, has been redecorated with plaques, photographs, medals and flags depicting Bradley's life from his Missouri boyhood through West Point and three wars.

HORSE IS NAMED

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — A radio station here held a contest to name "the horse with no name" and the prize was a Palomino mare.

David D. Rogers won, with his suggestion "Exodus" and his explanation: "I feel that America's song 'Horse With No Name' is symbolic of modern man's struggle to release himself from the bondage of today's society. The author of the song experienced a 'going out' of sorts. He was going out of the hassles and demands of modern society to the peace of the desert."

Africa Is Home For Carmichael

By LARRY HEINZERLING
Associated Press Writer

CONAKRY, Guinea (AP) — Stokely Carmichael, wearing white flare slacks and open-necked shirt, relaxed on the seaside veranda of the Camayenne Hotel to talk about home. For the self-imposed exile that means Africa—he says all black Americans should be here.

"America does not belong to the blacks," reflected Carmichael, who was born in Trinidad and became a U.S. citizen when his parents were naturalized. "We are not black Americans. We are Africans."

Carmichael's militancy in the '60s made headlines, especially his call for a black revolution against the white man in America. He was a member of the Black Panthers, but resigned before coming to Africa.

Throughout a brief interview, Carmichael expressed the views of many militants who come to Africa to live in exile because, as one here put it, "We can't hack it in the States."

These people say there's no future for their race in a white-dominated society that bought their forefathers as slaves and later thrust U.S. citizenship on them without asking the black man what he thought of either idea.

Carmichael, who says he is searching for a pan-African ideology, contends other like-minded Americans with African ancestry should abandon the United States in a mass exodus.

He sees no need for Africa to depend on foreign technicians to service and maintain sophisticated, imported equipment—the Camayenne Hotel's broken-down water heating system, for example—because of a lack of skilled manpower.

"African technicians exist," he said. "They are in America ... The land in Africa, not America, is ours. Our primary objective should be Africa."

Carmichael, 32, came to politically isolated and austere Guinea three years ago with his wife, South African-born singer Miriam Makeba.

"My dream is one united Africa—no individual countries," said Carmichael. "One leader. One army. One representative at the United Nations. When Africa is united it will be respected. When Africa is organized it will be strong."

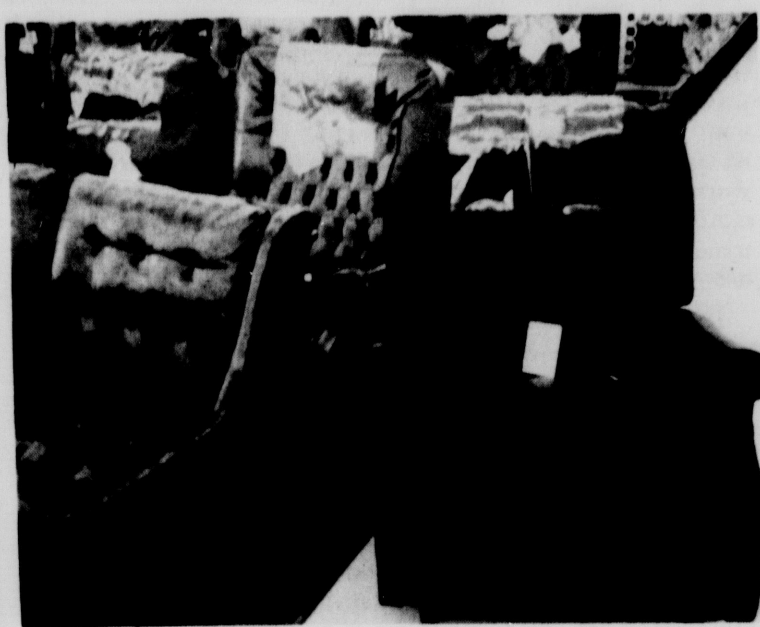

Carmichael spends most of his days "studying the African revolution through participation and observation."

Frivolous Feathers

Frivolity was not entirely lacking in the Millinery Institute's show Tuesday in New York. There was a far out hat and matching weskit of Spanish lamb, left, curlier than a poodle, dyed bright red. At right is a fuss-and-feathers evening number, a combination of guinea hen and coq feathers making up a hair-hiding cloche with matching muffs. (UPI)

Garden Club Notes

Garden Club No. 4 met Friday for a breakfast at the Holiday Inn, with 16 members present.

A poem "You Never Know" was read by the president Mrs. R. B. Daniels, and plans were made for a picnic in July. A short business meeting was held.

Mrs. Ernest C. Martin was hostess to Garden Club No. 8 for a dessert luncheon at her home at 720 West Fourth.

The program was given by Mrs. Terry Pile. She had several flower arrangements that she had made, Japanese, crescent, vertical and from them she explained "The A B C's of Flower Arranging."

Mrs. George Dryden spoke on ways of preserving flowers, leaves, seed pods, and gourds.

In arrangements featuring roses, first place was won by Mrs. Helen Thomas and second by Mrs. Gilbert Herrmann.

Mrs. Cecil Bohon, Sedalia Council of Garden Clubs president, made a few remarks about the recent State Garden Club Convention and presented the purple ribbon to the club for last year's achievements.

In July, the club will have a noon picnic at the South Shelter House at Liberty Park, it was announced.

Polly's Pointers

Grosgrain Ribbon Puckers Sweater

By POLLY CRAMER
Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY — I would like to know how one effectively cleans a plexiglass lampshade. — MARGE

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve concerns the grosgrain ribbon down the fronts of cardigan sweaters. Why don't the manufacturers preshrink this ribbon before applying it to the sweaters? Every time I wash one, the ribbon on both the button and the buttonhole sides just puckers up and ruins the looks of a lovely sweater. — LUCILLE

DEAR POLLY — Miss K. S. should be able to easily remove the soil from her vinyl-upholstered headboard by using a soft brush and saddle soap (liquid or foam is easier to apply than paste and can be bought in many shoe repair shops). Apply the saddle soap, dip brush in warm water and work up a good lather with the brush. Wipe clean with a cloth and warm water. I use this method on vinyl-upholstered furniture and vinyl shoes and also find it works beautifully on vinyl car upholstery. — MARY

DEAR GIRLS — The white vinyl leather upholstery in my car cleans up beautifully with liquid spray window cleaner which I have also used on a leatherlike vinyl chair. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — Did you ever hear of working flowers? I have some and such flowers might save you or someone else thousands of dollars.

Last fall a neighbor's cat just about ruined our carpet and a professional carpet cleaner's advice was to toss it out and buy some more. My husband is a penny-pincher, so he would not throw away a thousand dollars' worth of carpet and just had it cleaned. It had to do, smell and all, at least until spring.

I heard on the radio that the temperature was dropping rapidly and that all flowers should be brought inside, so we dug up and repotted our 10 coleus plants, brought them inside and luckily put some of them in the living room. The marigolds were still beautiful, so I put a couple of pots filled with them on the window sill and in three days that awful cat smell was gone. The flowers evidently absorbed it and now the carpet smells fresh and new, thanks to our flowers. Put your flowers to work for you and see what happens. — FRANCES

Better Bus Plan For District 200

The decision by the board of education Tuesday night to bus all district students living more than a mile from their schools will no doubt be welcomed by students and parents alike.

An important factor in the decision is the opening of the new junior high school this fall, which, because of its location, will place a transportation burden on many families, even though they live within the old 3½-mile limit. This will be especially true of families living in west Sedalia and the north side.

Also, with 5-year-olds attending public kindergartens for the first time this fall, this is another good reason for providing additional bus services.

The shifting of administrative and special education facilities to Hubbard School, together with the increased busing decision, also sets the stage, should the need arise, for implementing an integration plan recently submitted to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare by the local board.

That plan calls for closing Hubbard as a school and busing its students to other elementary schools. The board insists, however, that this is a strictly tentative proposal for complying with federal requirements.

Word is presently being awaited from HEW as to the acceptability of the Sedalia board's proposal. Influencing this decision, no doubt, will be the Nixon administration's opposition to busing as a means of achieving racial balance.

Presently awaiting the President's signature is an $18.5 billion education bill, passed last week by Congress, that puts an 18-month moratorium on court-ordered busing and in other ways limits the practice.

But we would hope that Sedalia can work out its differences with the federal government short of a court order, bringing to a sensible and mutually agreeable end a dispute that has been dragging on now for more than 18 months.

Art Buchwald Hot Items In Party Fire Sale

WASHINGTON — The Democratic Party is holding a fire sale on some surplus items left over from the primaries. The catalogue includes the following:

Two hundred forty-six books on Sen. Edmund Muskie with such varied titles as "From Maine to Pennsylvania Avenue," "A Day in the Life of President Muskie," "The Nixon-Muskie Debates," "Front-Runner from New England," "Quotations from Chairman Ed," "I Was Muskie's Football Coach," "Lincoln Walks Again" and "Mrs. Muskie's White House Cookbook."

Also included in the catalogue are 10,000 straw hats with "Vote For Lindsay," hatbands, 100,000 "Lindsay — Love Him Or Leave Him" bumper stickers, 250,000 campaign buttons which say "The People Want John" and 3,670,000 feet of film of John Lindsay eating pizza, Polish ham, kosher salami and soul food.

Available in the same package are 50 one-minute TV spots of Lindsay walking through the ghettos.

On page 43, the catalogue lists for sale 300,000 pamphlets entitled "Why I Think I Should Be President" by Henry Jackson with an introduction by Joseph Alsop, a cardboard reproduction of a Boeing SST on a float, a UPI photograph of Jackson addressing a crowd from an orange box in Florida and an autographed picture of Golda Meir.

There are also some great bargains in Sen. Vance Hartke memorabilia, including 6,000 "Hoosiers For Hartke" posters, 2,510 "Hartke Has Heart" stickers and a letter from Dita Beard telling Hartke he can't have the ITT company plane.

Rarer still are Sen. Fred Harris souvenirs listed for sale. These include 250 bills from printers, television stations, storefront owners, airlines and ball-point pen manufacturers. Also listed are Indian headdresses and three copies of the song "Happy Days Are Here Again."

The Democratic National Committee is offering in the same catalogue "The Best-Loved Poems of Gene McCarthy As Selected by Him," "Dump Johnson" posters (from McCarthy's '68 New Hampshire campaign) and "Come Clean With Gene" aprons.

Mayor Sam Yorty is included in the fire sale with "Stand Up America For Yorty" banners, "Yorty Will Win In Vietnam" billboard signs and 160,000 tie clasps of the American flag with "Yorty" printed in gold across the stripes.

"Vote For Terry Sanford" beach towels, and "Chisholm In '72" bar coasters are also being offered for sale.

One million copies of "The Congressional Record of George McGovern" have been donated by the Humphrey people, and 1 million copies of "The Congressional Record of Hubert Humphrey" were turned over by the McGovern camp.

The McGovern people are also selling their political polls in California at bargain prices.

Chairman Lawrence O'Brien maintains this is the greatest sale of primary material in the history of the Democratic Party. Each one is a collector's item. He said that they were expected to triple in value. A "Wilbur Mills for President" shopping bag which sells for 10 cents in the catalogue could easily be worth 25 cents 10 years from today.

So accustomed to volcanic eruptions were residents of Lanzarote, one of the Canary Islands, in the 18th century that they danced at fiestas by the light of volcanic fires. One-fourth of the island blew up in 1730 and kept on blowing up for six years.

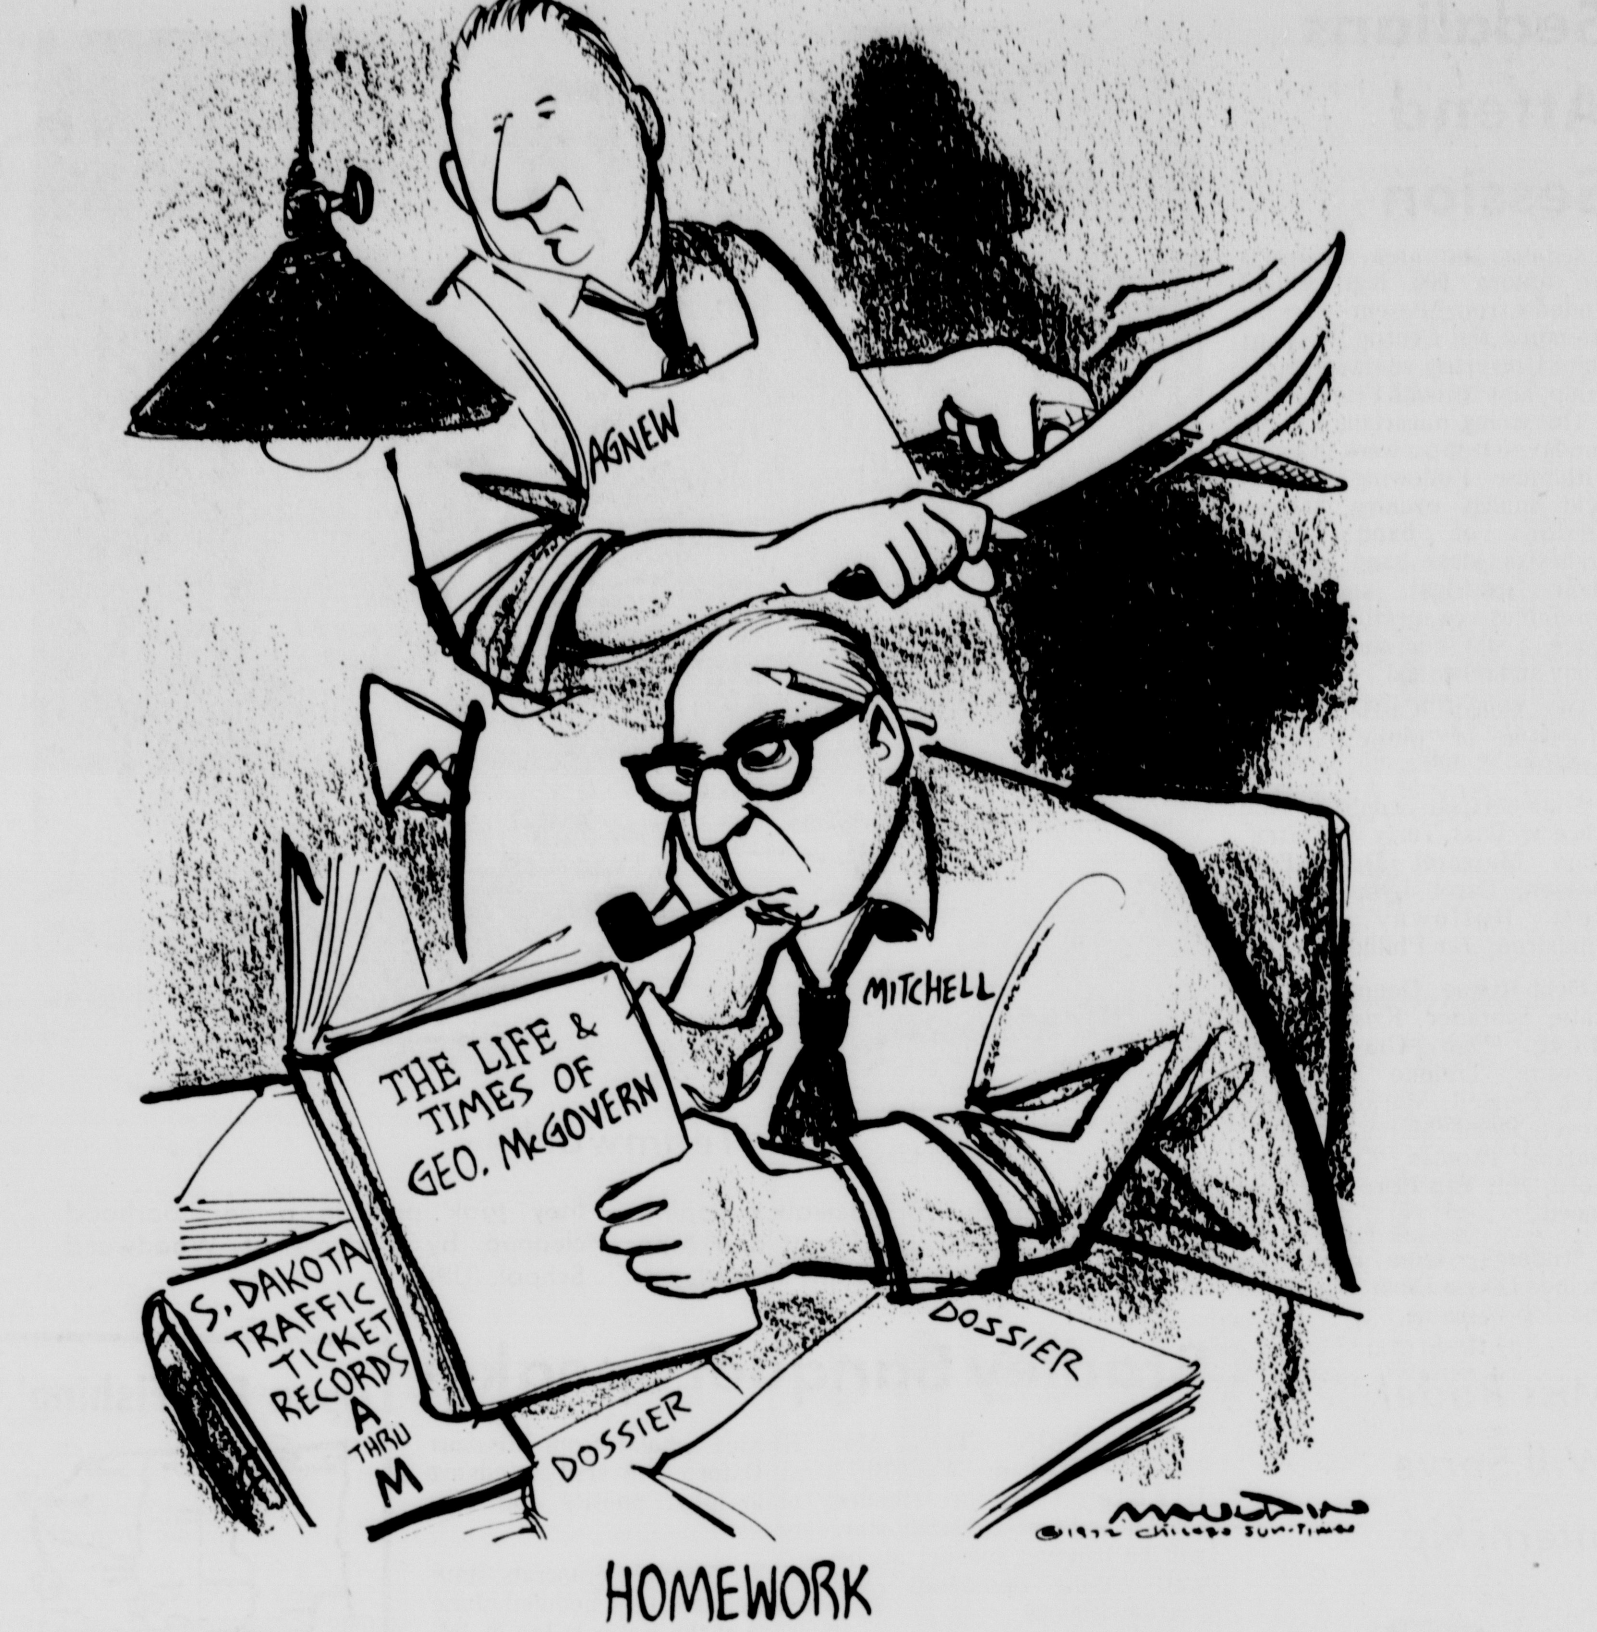

A Conservative View

Impeachment Power a Paper Tiger

WASHINGTON — On May 10, a small group of House Democrats, led by Michigan's John Conyers Jr., introduced a resolution to impeach the President of the United States. Three weeks later, to no one's great surprise, a letterhead committee took a double-track ad in the New York Times to push the cause along.

Now, this was doubtless good for the Times, which collected nearly $18,000, in advance, for the space, and perhaps the incident demonstrates anew to a puzzled world that our free institutions have indeed a high tolerance for nonsense. But considering the sponsors, I am minded to say, the resolution and the advertisement together add up to something less than a great moment of history.

Nevertheless, the dumbshow does provide an opportunity for continued reflection upon the one theme that must always absorb a political writer more than

Merry-Go-Round Hanoi Drops Hints On Secret Talks

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — Hanoi's chief negotiator in Paris, Le Duc Tho, has dropped diplomatic hints that he's willing to resume secret talks with President Nixon's foreign policy czar, Henry Kissinger.

This has cheered the cautious Kissinger, who has already gone several futile rounds with the North Vietnamese at the bargaining table but who now sees hope for a negotiated settlement of the Vietnam War. Here's his reasoning:

✓ In the past, the Hanoi leaders have refused to give up at the truce table what they have felt sure they could win on the battlefield. But their big offensive is now stalling, the military outlook less certain. They underestimated South Vietnamese resistance and miscalculated President Nixon's determination to strike back. General Nguyen Giap, the North Vietnamese commander, is also regarded as too cautious to risk losing his army in a sustained, go-for-broke assault.

✓ In the past, the North Vietnamese have counted upon Russia to keep their arsenal well supplied. The Nixon-Brezhnev accords in Moscow, however, have shaken Hanoi's confidence in future Soviet support. Hanoi's messages to Moscow (it's no secret we can intercept them) have become increasingly bitter and suspicious.

✓ In the past, the Chinese have always urged the North Vietnamese to fight on. Since the Nixon visit to Peking, however, the Chinese have softened their militancy and have spoken favorably of a negotiated settlement.

✓ Communications intercepts also reveal a split in the Hanoi hierarchy. Apparently, the hawks are fiercely determined to go it alone, if necessary, without military aid from Russia and China. While this hardline attitude has prevailed in the past, the doves are gaining support for a negotiated settlement and the military respite it would bring.

✓ Hanoi also expected the antiwar sentiment in America to restrain U.S. air and sea power during the offensive. The peace demonstrations, however, were comparatively mild. The political polls also show Richard Nixon, not the antiwar George McGovern, ahead in the presidential standings.

Kissinger is guarded, nevertheless, about the prospects for a negotiated peace. He doesn't expect Hanoi to settle the war at least until after the November election. The North Vietnamese will want to be sure whom the next president will be before they come to terms.

Kissinger also had the exasperating experience of negotiating with the Hanoi crowd even before he came to the White House. He played an unpublicized role in the 1967 negotiations that led, ultimately, to the bombing halt.

As a Harvard professor, Kissinger joined a group of Pugwash participants who discussed the Vietnam war in Paris in June 1967. He became close to a French scientist, Herbert Marcovitch, and another Frenchman, Raymond Aubrac, who had once taken Ho Chi Minh into his home in Paris. Aubrac, therefore, had access to the aging Ho in Hanoi.

Kissinger arranged through friends in Washington for Marcovitch and Aubrac to deliver a message to the Hanoi leadership, offering "to stop all aerial and naval bombardment of North Vietnam when this will lead promptly to productive discussions."

Weeks of negotiations wound up in a fruitless dispute over semantics. Kissinger, in a secret report on his last contact with his French friends, summarized:

"I said that the issue was really quite simple. If Hanoi wanted to negotiate, it should be able to find some way of expressing this fact by means other than subtle changes in tense and elliptical references full of double meanings."

The bombing halt was negotiated the following year through other contacts.

Bobby Baker's Book — The irrepressible Bobby Baker, formerly Lyndon Johnson's protegee in the Senate, is writing his memoirs after serving a hitch in prison for income tax violation. He has finished only one chapter, is now dickering with publishers. In one episode, Baker will tell how he collected an envelope stuffed with cash from International Telephone and Telegraph for the 1960 Democratic presidential campaign.

Oil Money — Standard Oil of California has now admitted what conservationists have suspected all along: that the company supports its political friends with hard cash. The admission came in a proxy statement. "Political contributions," conceded the corporate statement, are made to "political causes ... in the best interests of the Company and its stockholders." In national elections, corporate contributions are banned by the Federal Corrupt Practices Act. When we called Standard's Vice President George T. Ballou, however, he contended Standard kicked in money only to state and local candidates.

Operation Housecleaning — The Business Executives Move for Peace, a group of antiwar corporate bigwigs, have won four victories out of four attempts in their campaign against the House's hawks on Vietnam. The businessmen's money helped give liberal banker Fortney Stark a surprise upset over crusty Rep. George Miller, D-Calif. The antiwar executives also backed primary victors Rep. Pete McCloskey, R-Calif., lawyer Eugene Gallegos of New Mexico and car dealer Roger Boas of California. The drive, called "Operation Housecleaning," will next go after Reps. John Rooney and James Delaney, both New York Democrats, and Wayne Aspinall, D-Colo.

Rapid Decompression Study Target

By BILL STOCKTON
AP Science Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Last year the U.S. Air Force spent more than $1 million sending 15,000 pilots and flight crew members through pressure chambers to simulate rapid decompression, the emergency that struck an American Airlines DC10 on Monday.

But America's major airlines, which carried 152 million passengers in the United States last year, don't require this emergency training for their pilots and stewardesses, a poll indicated Tuesday. Federal Aviation Administration regulations don't require it.

So only pilots with military experience and a handful of stewardesses know what it feels like when the unexpected bang comes, followed by a whoosh of air, a cold mist fogging the cabin, and objects whistling about.

The incident Monday night raises anew old questions about whether such training should be mandatory for airline crews.

The American Airlines spokesman said Tuesday the DC10 experienced sudden decompression when a hatch came open over Ontario. The crew made an emergency landing at Detroit minutes later without a rudder or left braking system, with the rear engine of the three-engine plane disabled and elevation controls partially lost. Of the 67 persons aboard, nine were injured slightly while sliding down emergency escape chutes after landing and two stewardesses were hurt slightly when a floor collapsed.

Airline crew training officials questioned Tuesday included representatives for Pan American, United, Trans World, Continental and American. All said pressure chamber training isn't deemed necessary because rapid decompression occurs so infrequently. Training now in use is sufficient, they said.

However the Air Force requires every pilot and crew member and even touring congressmen and other civilians to take its physiological training course and renew it every three years before they can fly in most high altitude aircraft.

The course consists of one day of classroom work followed by half a day in the pressure chamber. Students learn to use oxygen masks, are taken up to a simulated altitude of 43,000 feet achieved by pumping air from the chamber. They take their masks off briefly, experiencing oxygen deficiency, which can lead to unconsciousness.

Then with the chamber at 22,000 feet, a valve is opened and the altitude suddenly drops to 8,000 feet. It's a startling experience, even though the student knows it's coming.

Altitude chamber training is available to airline pilots and stewardesses for $5 through a cooperative program between the FAA and the armed forces. But FAA officials who head the program in Oklahoma City said very few stewardesses have participated. No figure on the number of pilots was available.

Pressurized aircraft cabins became necessary with the advent of jet airplanes which operate at extremely high altitudes.

Pumps force air into the cabin constantly, simulating a much lower altitude, usually 8,000 feet, at which oxygen masks aren't needed.

But if a hatch blows open or the pressure hull otherwise is opened, rapid decompression can result.

American's passengers were apparently in little danger Monday night because the airplane had just left Detroit and was at 12,000 feet where adequate oxygen is available.

However the craft's normal operating altitude is 35,000 to 38,000 feet and if a plane suddenly was depressurized at that altitude, anyone who didn't immediately begin breathing oxygen from the mask that would drop in front of him would pass out in less than a minute.

In Detroit, the National Transportation Safety Board, FAA and FBI launched what officials said could be a lengthy investigation of the cause of the mishap. Officials said the latch on the aft storage bin opened to trigger depressurization.

Bosox End Royals' Jinx

BOSTON (AP) — When it comes to breaking a "jinx" the Boston Red Sox don't spare the muscle.

After all, enough was enough. Losing nine straight at home to the likes of the Kansas City Royals had the Red Sox scratching their heads.

Wednesday night they stopped scratching and started hitting. And hitting some more. When the dust had cleared from the base paths, the Red Sox had 11 runs on the scoreboard. The Royals had three. And the Red Sox had their first victory over Kansas City at Fenway Park since Aug. 12, 1970.

John Curtis, the rookie left-hander who shut out the Royals in Kansas City earlier this month, went the distance for the Red Sox, weakening only in the eighth when he gave up home runs to Riche Schienblum and Jerry May.

"Tonight was the true test," Curtis said. "I don't consider the first outing against a team a valid test of a pitcher's effectiveness. I have to feel pretty good about it."

Curtis, who was called up recently from Louisville, said pitching in Fenway Park, supposedly a lefthander's nightmare because of the short left-field wall, does not bother him.

"I don't turn around and look at the monster and shudder," Curtis said of the wall. "Those things just don't affect me. At least I try not to let them. I go out there thinking I have good enough stuff to get them out."

While Curtis was breezing along with his good stuff getting people out, the Red Sox were hitting and running the bases in a style not seen often in recent days at Fenway.

They opened with four runs in the first inning and added four more in the second. They added one in the fourth and two in the eighth.

Reggie Smith, using a bat he borrowed from Tommy Harper, had four hits, two RBIs and two stolen bases. To show he was human, he was picked off first in the eighth.

Danny Cater had a three-run homer and four RBIs and now has knocked in 10 runs in the last five games. Carlton Fisk added a two-run homer, his sixth of the year, into the centerfield bleachers.

In addition to their 13 hits, the Red Sox also stole four bases, raising the question of when was the last time the anvil-footed Red Sox had performed such a feat.

"We can't find it anywhere," said team statistician Dick Bresciani. "It probably never happened before."

Ditzfeld Wins

Pair; 10-9, 8-1

Ditzfeld Transfer swept a doubleheader from Warsaw Wednesday night in men's independent softball action.

A three-run home run by Dave Johnson in the seventh inning pushed Ditzfeld to a 10-9 victory in the opener. Rick Shireman was the winning pitcher in relief.

Enos Johnson also homered for the winners, while Ron Johnson and Gene Shireman had a pair of hits.

The second game, which went only five innings due to the seven-run rule, also went to Ditzfeld, 8-1.

Winning pitcher Archie Shireman hurled one-hit ball in going the distance. Jim Vinson homered for Ditzfeld.

The next game for Ditzfeld will be Sunday at 6:30 p.m. at Whiteman Air Force Base.

Three records, one of which is a national mark, were recently recorded by Missouri fishermen.

Troy Lackey, Sikeston, caught a 31-pound, eight-

ounce German Brown Trout

on a White River float trip.

That catch ranks as a national record.

Someone probably had to pick State Fair Community College basketball coach Bill Barton up off the floor the other day, when he found out who he was going to play in the opening round of the Mineral Area Basketball Classic over the Thanksgiving vacation in Flat River, Mo.

The Roadrunners, who will put virtually a new team on the court this year, will take on defending National Junior College Athletic Association basketball champion Vincennes University of Vincennes, Ind., in the tourney opener.

State Fair, Vincennes, host Mineral Area and Northeast Oklahoma will make up the four-team classic field for the two-day event, Nov. 24-25.

Other news in the area of Missouri junior college basketball comes from Hannibal, Mo., where 22-year-old Steve Young has been hired as the new head coach at Missouri-Baptist College.

Young, who has never coached a basketball game in his life, comes to the Trojans from Pacific, Mo. He replaces Tom Vardeman, who coached for only one year in the Missouri River town in the northeast part of the state.

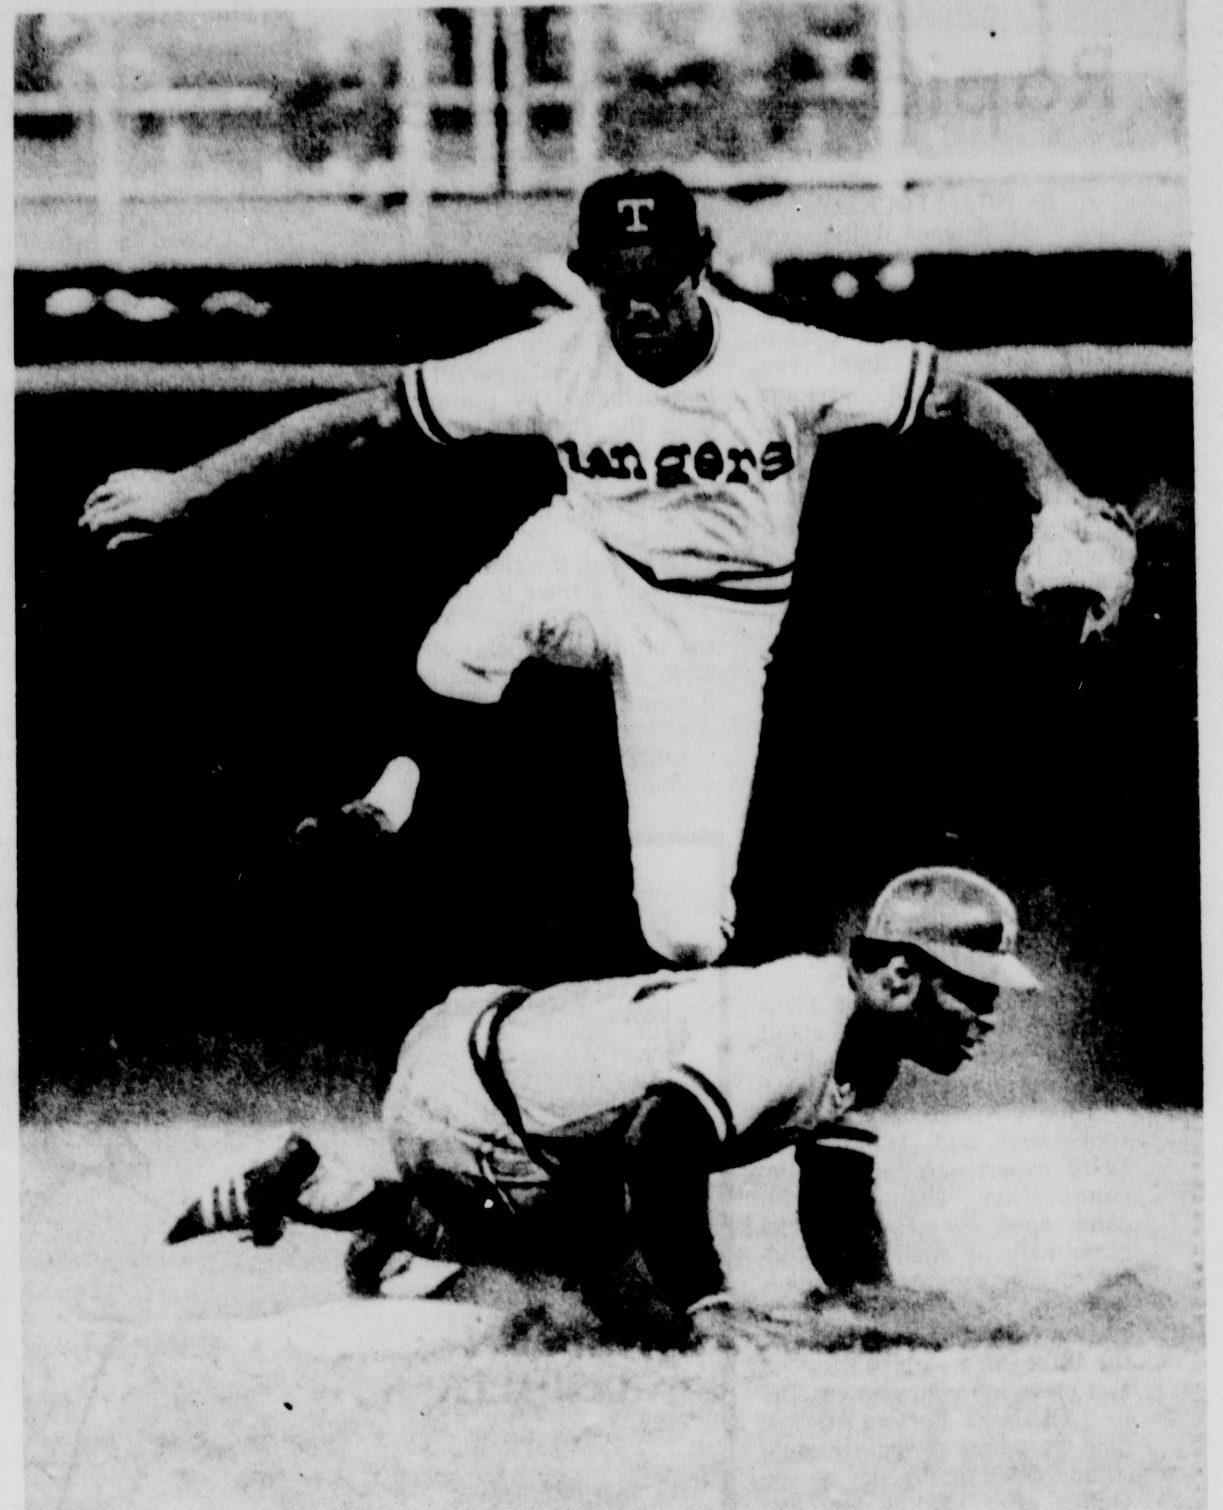

Young played at Pacific High School and later played for two years at William Jewell College. Spending most of his time on the jayvee team, Young switched his time to the bench taking over as the assistant varsity basketball coach his junior and senior years.

He is winding up his work on his masters degree this summer at Arizona University.

Rozell Still Questions John Mecom's Real Estate Sales

NEW YORK (AP) — National Football League Commissioner Pete Rozelle says John Mecom Jr. is clean—but he's not so sure about some real estate transactions in which the president of the New Orleans Saints was involved.

On Wednesday, Rozelle cleared Mecom of any alleged underworld associations. But he added that Mecom, also the principal owner of the Saints, had agreed to divest himself of his holdings in the two deals.

Rozelle's action followed an investigation by the NFL of May 3 accusations by Aaron Cohn, director of the New Orleans Crime Commission, who told Congress' House Select Committee on Organized Crime that Mecom was associating with people who had underworld connections, a statement which, Rozelle said, "evoked banner headlines."

The NFL probe, the commissioner said, "shows participation by Mr. Mecom in both of the real estate transactions cited... but no underworld association of Mr. Mecom in these matters."

The deals, Rozelle said, involved real estate investments of $2,000 and $26,000 with one of them involving four investors, the other with six.

The commissioner's statement acknowledged that one of the individuals involved "has an Internal Revenue Service conviction on a gambling charge, but it was not Mr. Me-

com who brought this individual into the transactions and the individual is by no means an associate of the Saints' owner."

Fishman Submits His Resignation

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Marvin L. Fishman, head of a business group which is acquiring the National Basketball Association's Chicago franchise, has submitted his resignation as Milwaukee Bucks vice president.

Fishman also holds an estimated two per cent of Bucks stock, which he is expected to relinquish.

NBA policy forbids a person having an interest in more than one franchise. The Bucks organization has its own rules against stockholders securing other franchise property.

The Chicago Bulls sale requires approval of 13 other franchises.

Different Form of Merger

Reports Say ABA, NBA May 'Consolidate'

By BERT ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Sports Writer
WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS,
W. Va. (AP) — What could be a momentous meeting of the National Basketball Association's board of governors was set for today, with reports circulating of a possible "consolidation" of the NBA and American Basketball Association.

While NBA Commissioner Walter
Kennedy said Wednesday he didn't think there would be any discussion of the ABA at the governors' two-day meetings, he did emphasize that "there'll certainly be talk about a merger."
How he could manage to separate the two was being questioned by some observers.
Reportedly, one step in favor of a merger was solved Tuesday night when the ABA dropped its two weakest franchises, Pittsburgh and the Floridians, and announced it would operate with its nine strongest teams next season.

There were, however, some roadblocks that could continue to stall the merger.
One is that the merger bill has been tied up in a Senate

anti-trust subcommittee since last September. The chairman of the subcommittee, Sam J.
Ervin Jr., D-N.C., has continually voiced his opposition to the bill.
The House is also preparing to tackle the matter. On Wednesday, the chairman of the House judiciary subcommittee, Rep. Emmanuel Celler, D-N.Y., said his subcommittee

would begin hearings during the week of July 24. The bill was introduced by Rep. Jack Brooks, D-Tex.
A second stumbling block to a merger is the NBA Players Association.
The organization, headed by Oscar Robertson of the Milwaukee Bucks, has stated its opposition to a merger, mainly because it seeks elimination of the option clause in the players' contracts.

"I think it's possible to get a merger legislation through Congress despite the player association's opposition," said Kennedy.
The commissioner noted, however, "that it would be impossible for a merger to be completed before the start of the 1972-73 season." But he indicated that it might be resolved prior to the draft of college players next spring.

The governors were scheduled to hear a report today from merger committee chairman Abe Pollin of the Baltimore Bullets.

Also on the agenda for the two-day session were discussions on possible action against the NBA players who participated in the May all-star game against the ABA, the sale of the Boston Celtics, approval of the announced sale of the Chicago Bulls to Marvin Fishman for a reported $4 million plus scheduling and rule changes.

Rep. Steiger ...

Claims Emprise Heads Tried to Defame Him

By JAY PERKINS
Associated Press Sports Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A leader in a House probe of organized crime's alleged influence on sports has implied that an officer of a multimillion dollar sports corporation tried to ruin his reputation.
The allegation Wednesday by Rep. Sam Steiger, R-Ariz., will likely be explored further today when the accused witness returns for more questioning.
The witness—Max Jacobs of Emprise Corp., a Buffalo, N.Y., holding firm—and his brother,
Jeremy, president of Emprise, both are to appear before the House Select Committee on Crime.
The Jacobs brothers own the National Basketball Association club, the Kansas City-Omaha Kings, formerly called the Cincinnati Royals. Emprise also owns numerous race tracks around the country and one of its subsidiaries, Sportservice, is a leader in the concession business.

Steiger, who has been fighting a running battle with Emprise and the Jacobs brothers for years, Wednesday read a section of a 1971 letter Max Jacobs wrote to Louisiana State Police Sgt. E. M. Garner.
The letter said Steiger had been divorced from his wife in 1963 and that the juvenile court in Prescott, Ariz., had ordered records of the divorce proceeding sealed.
"Apparently under Arizona law," the letter said, "this is done when a divorce centers around a minor—for example, in any action in which a minor might be named as a co-respondent."

Steiger said he was later informed by an Emprise attorney, Arthur Weiss, of an "ugly rumor" floating about that "the cause of my divorce was my association with my then three-year-old daughter."

Steiger said there was no truth to the rumor. He also said records of his divorce are open and that the cause was mental cruelty.
Jacobs apologized to Steiger for the paragraph in the letter.
He said he did not know the information was wrong.
Jacobs said he had sent the information on Steiger at Garner's request. He said Garner was then conducting an investigation into Emprise's holdings in the Jefferson Downs race track near New Orleans.
Jacobs said he collected the information on Steiger because of the congressman's allegations against the Emprise Corp.
Steiger contends the corporation has underworld associations.

rooms will be available in the

The new stadium, which seats 2,000 fans, has a modern

Investigate Races at Churchill

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) —
The Kentucky State Racing Commission has launched an investigation into two races run at Churchill Downs May 6, the same day as the Kentucky Derby.
Each race was won by a thoroughbred who was a long-shot on the morning line, but who won after receiving heavy betting support at the track.
Commission Chairman William H. May told a Lexington press conference Wednesday that the commission is particularly concerned about examples of "inconsistent wagering ... and handling of the (winning) horse in the 10th race."

Baseball Attendance Up

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

When baseball's major league players conducted their unprecedented strike at the start of the season, there was concern that fans would turn their backs on the national pastime.
Well, they haven't. In fact, attendance is up a bit, according to a survey by Harry Simmons, an administrative assistant to Commissioner Bowie Kuhn.
The results, released Wednesday, of the survey covering attendance through the first nine weeks of the season offer two basic conclusions: the fans are still coming out to the ballpark but attendance lost by the strike will hurt the owners.

The survey compares playing dates through June 11 of this season with the corresponding number of dates in 1971, eliminating the attendance lost during the strike, which wiped out 84 games.
For those parallel periods, major league attendance increased by 126,867—1.6 per cent—meaning more fans have seen games in person this year since the strike ended than

went to the same span of games last year.
But overall attendance has been hard hit by the strike, the survey shows. Because of the lost playing dates, 1,419,240 fewer fans have been to a game this year.
Even if the 1.6 percent increase holds for the rest of the season, baseball can expect to have a drop of about 1.2 million for the entire year.

ASU Nears NCAA Title

By DAN EVEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Pitching-rich Arizona State stands one victory away from denying Southern California an unprecedented third straight NCAA World Series baseball title.
The top-ranked Sun Devils, 64-4, flashed another brilliant mound performance Wednesday night in ousting No. 6 Temple 1-0, while Southern Cal stayed alive by nipping Texas 4-3 in 10 innings.
"We'll go with our best; we want to end it, although there is a tomorrow," mused Arizona State Coach Jim Brock of the re-meeting with Southern California.
Arizona State, which won titles here in 1965, 1967 and 1969, beat USC 3-0 Sunday night behind a shutout pitching performance by Jim Crawford.
An Arizona State victory
tonight would end the tournament which started with a field of eight last Friday. A USC triumph would force a rematch
Friday night.
All-America senior right-hander Craig Swan (16-1)
allowed Temple two singles, struck out 12 and did not walk

a man in pitching the Sun Devils 24th shutout of the season and third straight of the tournament.
"We didn't fall apart after Texas took the lead," noted USC Coach Rod Dedeaux after the ousting of No. 5 Long Horns.
Daryl Arenstein's single drove home the winning run against Texas (40-9). It was his second game-winning hit of the double-elimination series.
Greg Widman and Russ McQueen (8-3) combined for a four-hitter for USC. Sophomore McQueen was making his third series appearance.
An unearned run let No. 3 Southern Cal (48-13) tie the game in the seventh and Tim Steele drilled a one-out double to set up the winning run in the 10th.
Either Southern Cal or Arizona State has grabbed the title in the tournament the past five years and six of the last seven.
A crowd of 12,829-third large-est ever for a session—saw the doubleheader and attendance for the 23 years the tournament has been held here passed a million.

Opening lead—A 10

By Oswald & James Jacoby

"To finesse or not to finesse, that is the question," soliloquized Hamlet. "Verily, Polonius had said that a finesse is a 50 per cent chance while a suit will break 3-3 but 36 per cent of the time."

Then Hamlet went right up with dummy's ace of spades. His bidding had shown three aces so it was evident that Guildenstern, sitting West, would not lead away from a king at trick one. Hence the finesse would be hopeless.

The ace play would win if clubs broke 3-3 or if the king of spades was in the same hand that held the long clubs.

He played a couple of rounds of trumps; cashed his ace and king of diamonds and ran the rest of the trumps. The first discard from dummy was the queen of spades; the second the last diamond.

Then he led a club to the king and a second club back to his ace. He had seen West discard three spades and finally the queen and 10 of diamonds on the trumps. It looked very much as if West had started with four clubs.

This knowledge might not do him any good but East dropped the nine and 10 on the first two clubs. This set up a finessing situation and while Hamlet had never heard of the principle of restricted choice, he still finessed against the jack of clubs and brought the slam home.

Elderly Care Plan Assailed

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—Health officials from Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska and Iowa think elderly people are being denied health care they need.

The blame for the situation landed on the Social Security Administration during discussions at a meeting here Wednesday.

The representatives hope to enlist the help of officials from Congress down to local communities in meeting the "serious problem of adequate care for the aged," said Dr. Arnold Reeve, Iowa health commissioner.

The problems were linked to handling health services for older people under Medicare.

Dr. E. D. Lyman, executive secretary and health director of the Kansas State Department of Health, said "Social security has put a premium on curative services and has de-emphasized preventive service."

The meeting stressed the importance of services in the home as opposed to care in hospitals and institutions. Specifically mentioned were such services as nursing, homemaker aid, nutritional assistance and health care below the nursing level.

It was reported that in the four states, two-thirds of the counties and 40 per cent of the elderly people are without any home health-care programs.

"We aren't trying to advocate any new concepts, all we are trying to say is that what everyone has agreed the elderly need should be done," said Dr. Herbert Domke, director of the Missouri Division of Health.

He added, "A little bit of care makes it possible for some old persons to stay in their homes and if they don't have that little bit, their condition worsens and they are forced to go to a hospital or an institution."

Dr. Henry D. Smith, director of the Nebraska State Department of Health, said the federal officials who administer the Medicare program "are meeting the law and missing the mark. You build a program and invest funds and then Medicare rejects it."

Dr. Domke said Medicare "will pay a hospital bill almost without question, but is reluctant to pay for home services."

All four agreed that is discouraging health agencies from offering extensive home care services.

The doctors said they are drafting a position paper to be sent to all congressmen representing the four states and to individual groups which they feel might be interested.

Omaha Is Selected MRBC Headquarters

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Iowa (AP) — The 10-state Missouri River Basin Commission officially organized itself Wednesday, and selected Omaha, Neb., as its headquarters.

During a four hour meeting the 20-member commission: —Elected Joe Grimes vice chairman. Grimes is chief engineer for the South Dakota Water Resources Commission. —Approved a 1972-73 budget which allows a maximum expenditure of $150,000 for operational costs. —Adopted temporary by laws and set the next regular meeting for Oct. 18-19 in Bismarck, N.D.

Govs. J. J. Exon of Nebraska and William L. Guy of North Dakota attended the meeting.

After debating finances, commission members decided that costs, during the coming year only, should be divided up on the basis of the states' population and size within the basin area. Some members objected that such a formula was inequitable, and should include other factors, among them benefits derived from the commission's effort.

The $150,000 is to come from the federal government through the Water Resources Council.

Kennedy Neither In Nor Out of Race

By DON McLEOD
AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy never has been in the race for a spot on the Democratic presidential ticket this year, but neither is he wholly out of it.

Kennedy's standing with the party and his future as a national contender are at stake every time he's asked whether he would accept the nomination for president or vice president.

Perhaps that explains why he ever seems to fully answer the question.

On Tuesday, the Boston Globe quoted the Massachusetts senator as saying he would "not exclude the possibility" of accepting the vice presidential nomination on a ticket headed by Sen. George S. McGovern if that seems to be the only winning combination.

On Wednesday, Kennedy added, "But I don't believe that's a reasonable situation or a foreseeable one. I can't foresee any circumstances under which I might accept."

A Kennedy aide said privately, "You could postulate some considerations under which he might do it and you're bound to arrive at one to which he would have to say 'Yes.' He also has said that he might run for president if it looked like George Wallace was going to get the nomination.

Paint Removal Warning

WASHINGTON (AP) — Responding to warnings that lives of young children were in danger, the Department of Housing and Urban Development has reversed itself and ordered removal of flaking lead-base paint from dwellings under its jurisdiction.

Most paint made before 1950 contains a lead base. If eaten, flakes or peeling of this paint can cause severe mental and physical disability, including vomiting, fever and even paralysis.

Young children who inadvertently eat the paint off walls and other surfaces are the most frequent victims, and the dangers of the paint have been a frequent complaint of occupants of old housing in the nation's cities.

Congress sought to eliminate the hazard in both public and private housing by passing the Lead Paint Poisoning Prevention Act in December, of 1971.

The Department of Housing and Urban Development first ordered a complete removal or coverup of all lead-base paint from an estimated five to seven million housing units it owned or leased. But the order was rescinded upon discovery that the total cost of such a project could run as high as $17 billion.

"But that's not the same as saying he's running, or even interested," the aide said.

The remote possibility that Kennedy might consider a vice presidential invitation on a ticket with McGovern seemed significant in that it came at the time of a struggling "stop McGovern" movement within the Democratic party.

Last Sunday Rep. Wilbur Mills, himself an announced presidential candidate, predicted McGovern would fail to win the nomination and the convention was likely to turn to Kennedy instead.

Mills said he might even be willing to accept a vice presidential nomination on a Kennedy ticket. Kennedy said he was "flattered" but still wasn't running.

Kennedy probably has it within his power to stop this move against McGovern, but he seriously questions whether it is necessary. And running for vice president would hardly be the way.

"What 'stop McGovern' movement?" one Kennedy staff member asked. "You hear a lot about it, but I don't see it. It's a movement without a leader."

Kennedy himself said he felt McGovern was "within an eyelash" of winning the nomination. "History teaches that anyone who is this close is virtually certain to succeed."

If he felt there was a possibility that the party's Southern and conservative wing could scuttle McGovern, Kennedy most likely could beat it by seriously offering himself for the vice presidency.

But this would take Kennedy out of consideration for the presidency this year. Because many observers believe Kennedy may have to step in and save the party if the convention deadlocks, this would be like saying "no" to the convention before it ever has a chance to ask him.

In addition, the vice presidency holds little allure for Kennedy, and the physical dangers for which he has expressed concern would be just as great in either spot.

A direct endorsement by Kennedy also might be enough to stop McGovern's enemies on the right, but still wouldn't erase the speculation about Kennedy.

Kennedy has said his sympathies lie with McGovern and he would give the endorsement if he thought it would end the ceaseless questions about his own availability.

Yale President Blasts Policies

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Yale President Kingman Brewster Jr. says, "The Constitution is too important to leave to the courts. And politics is too important to leave to the politicians."

"It's a terrible American weakness to believe that if you've got a problem all you have to do is pass a law," he says. "It may be important to pass the law and observe it, but even more important in the long run is the active concern of the private citizen for the values involved."

In the past two months, Brewster has been following his own advice—stepping outside the customary aloofness of his office on several occasions to publicly criticize the Indochina war and some of President Nixon's domestic policies.

In an interview at Yale, Brewster said the Nixon administration has been "excessively impatient" with constitutional safeguards—but he added that Nixon is only continuing a historical trend toward more imperious and more distant government.

"There's been a lot of buck-passing in the constitutional field," he said. "Everybody expects that defending the Constitution is somebody else's job. And not enough attention to the fact that basically the Constitution is an expression of a value system, is everybody's business."

At a time of increased distance between government and citizens, he said, it is more than a question of one issue.

"I'm encouraging others, not to agree with me, but to be concerned about the problem" and to speak up or join groups or take part in some other way, he said.

Brewster has spoken out before on public issues but rarely with the regularity of recent weeks. This activism—like that of several other college presidents—surfaced two months ago with the stepped-up bombing of North Vietnam and the mining of North Vietnamese ports. He said at the time that he disapproved of disruptive demonstrations and was seeking another form of protest for his students.

Late last month, he told graduating seniors at Notre Dame University that "deep divisions, disapprovals, and distrust have been sown throughout the land by the 'if you are not for me, you are against me' rhetoric of the President, the vice president and other administration spokesmen."

In a baccalaureate address to Yale seniors last Sunday and in the interview, Brewster praised students working for Sen. George McGovern, such groups as the American Civil Liberties Union and peace groups which he said had been pilloried a decade ago when they advocated a nuclear arms agreement. New forms of citizen participation are needed too, he said, but he offered no new suggestions.

Granted Delay

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Roy L. Williams of Kansas City, a Teamsters Union official, has been granted a four-week delay in his trial on charges of embezzling $16,148.

Williams, president of Local 41 and Joint Council 56, was indicted in January by a special grand jury.

The new trial date in federal court is July 24.
